Victoria Girl Qualifies For Olympic Swim

LONDON (Reuter)—The Olympic record for the 200-metre women's breaststroke was twice broken today.

Pietie Van Vleit of the Netherlands, in winning the third heat, set the mark at 2 minutes 57.4 seconds, a few minutes after Eva Szekely of Hungary had set it at 3 minutes 1.2 seconds in winning the second heat.

The old mark of 3 minutes 1.9 seconds was made in Berlin in 1936 by Hideko Mayehata of Japan.

The record set today, however, still is below the recognized world record of 2 minutes 51.9 seconds established in 1947 by Nel Van Vleit of the Netherlands and since bettered by the Dutch swimmer in 2 minutes 49.2 seconds, a figure which has not yet been recognized.

Irene Strong of Victoria, Canada's only entrant in the women's 200-metre breaststroke competition was fifth in the heat. She fought grimly, but faded in the last 10 yards, trailing Jytte Hansen of Denmark, Margit Leskinen of Finland and Helen Gordon of Britain.

Later it was announced that Miss Strong had qualified because she had the fastest time among the losers in her heat.

Eric Jubb, the 17-year-old Victoria boy, failed to qualify in his preliminary heat in the 100 metres freestyle.

Jubb finished fifth behind Deza Kedas of Hungary, who won the heat in 58.4 seconds.

Believed He Was Leading

"What a disappointment," the 18-year-old Salmon told the Canadian Press. "I was swimming in the first lane. The second lane was empty and I thought I was ahead."

Alex Jany, the favored Olympic sprint swimmer from France, won his 100-metre freestyle heat in a close finish with Bruce Burke of Australia.

Keith Carter of the United States put on a great rally to overtake P. O. Olsson of Sweden and win his heat in 58.7.

Wally Ris of the United States was another heat winner, equaling Jany's time of 58.1.

ATHANS PLACES 13TH

Dr. George Athans of Vancouver, suffering from a bad cold, was 13th in a field of 27 in the compulsory dives in the three-metre springboard competition.

Toronto High Jumper Gives Canada Only Olympic Point

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley (CP)—Art Jackes of Toronto gave Canada her single point in the Olympic Games competition today by placing sixth in the high jump.

John Winter of Australia snatched the event from pressing U.S. jumpers, winning with a leap of 1.98 metres, about six feet, six inches.

Jackes' top performance was 1.90 metres and gave Canada the final place in the unofficial Olympic standings.

The Olympic record for the high jump is 2.03 metres.

Jack Hutchins of the Vancouver Owls' Club was Canada's sole survivor in today's preliminary running events. He finished third in his preliminary heat in the 800-metre run and moved on to tomorrow's semifinal.

Soon after Hutchins' good effort—third place in a heat won by the heavily-favored Melvin Whitfield of the United States—Canada's other remaining hope in the cinder-path events was eliminated.

That was Ted Haglis. The London, Ont., boy who got safely past his preliminary heat in the 100-metre dash, but was eliminated in the semifinals where he placed fourth.

Two of Hutchins' mates from British Columbia—Ez Henninger of Vancouver and Bill Parnell of North Vancouver—were eliminated in preliminary heats of the 800-metre race.

Jackes qualified for the final in the high jump by clearing the bar a shave above the qualifying mark of six feet, 1.62 inches.

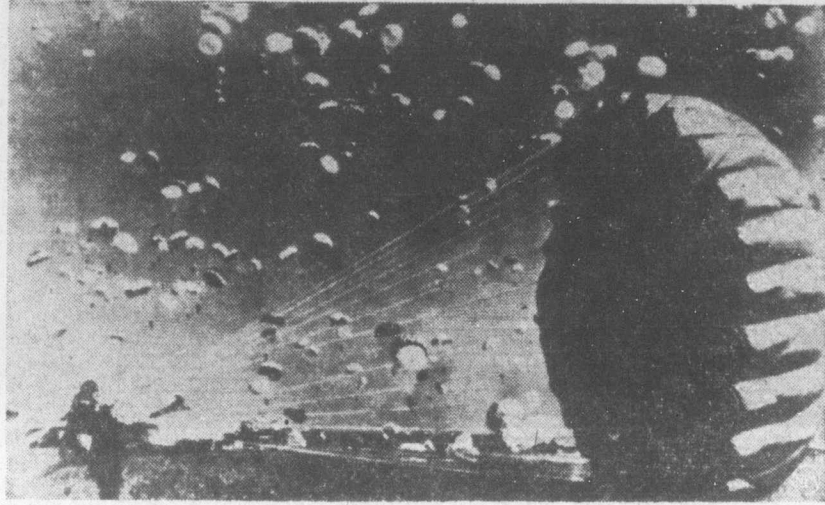

Bill LaRoche of Chatham, Ont., failed to qualify in the 400-metre hurdles and the same fate overtook Jimmy O'Brien of Toronto in the 100-metre sprint preliminaries.

Swede Sets Mark In 400 Hurdles

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley (CP)—R. Larsson of Sweden set an Olympic record of 51.9 seconds for the 400-metre hurdles today and within a few minutes the mark was tied by Roy Cochran of Los Angeles, Calif.

The mark was set in the semifinals of the event this afternoon, only a few hours after competition in the 1948 games had got under way.

Demonstration Of Russian Air Power

Soviet parachutists fill the sky over Moscow's Tushino Airdrome during annual Aviation Day air show. The manoeuvres were organized to demonstrate Soviet air resources to the Russian people and foreign observers. Premier Stalin watched the two-hour air-might, which was directed by his son.

Taft Charges Truman Not Sincere On Price Cutting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman fired a new demand for anti-inflation laws at Congress today, saying they are needed "to forestall business collapse." He told the Republican legislators there has been "blind disregard" for the danger.

Bitter words flew back at him. Senator Taft (Rep.-Ohio) told the Senate Mr. Truman "doesn't want to stop inflation" and that it is "difficult to believe he will use" any new powers voted him by Congress.

Taft's outburst was touched off by Mr. Truman's new call for legislation, made in the form of an economic report.

The report reached the Capitol while Truman aides were on "the Hill" battling personally for the President's program.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, appearing before the Senate banking committee, urged (a) government power to control installment buying, and (b) authority for the Federal Reserve Board to increase required bank reserves. The idea back of increased reserves is that it would tie up money that banks might otherwise lend to people whose spending would increase inflationary pressures.

Survivor Admits Pirates Caused China Plane Crash

MACAO, China (AP)—Police Commissioner Luis A. M. Paletti today said the sole survivor of the July 16 flying boat crash off Macao that killed 25 persons had confessed he was a member of a pirate band aboard to seize the plane.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Stewart, formerly of Vancouver, were among those killed.

Paletti quoted the survivor, Wong Fu, as saying his three pirate companions fired 18 shots into pilot Dale Cramer and co-pilot K. S. McDuff when they put up a fight shortly after the Catalina had taken off for Hong-kong.

Wong said two friends, Chiu Tok, a former Catalina flier from Manila, and Chiu Yat-yeng, visited him and asked if he was interested in "some work."

"I was in such bad financial condition I accepted," Wong was quoted.

Eire Team Quits Olympic Games

LONDON (Reuter)—Eire tonight withdrew from the Olympic Games, it was officially announced.

This followed a decision of the international swimming federation that the Eire team could not compete because some members had been born in Northern Ireland and some in Eire.

The Eire delegate immediately stated the whole team would be withdrawn because they would not break up into separate teams and would swim as one entry or not at all.

Czech Wins First Olympic Footrace

OLYMPIC STADIUM, WEMBLEY, Eng. (AP)—Wobbling and grimacing all the way, Emil Satopek, the incredible Czechoslovakian, captured the first final event for men on the Olympic track and field program today—the 10,000-metre run.

Taxi Driver Robbed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two armed bandits today robbed a taxi driver at gunpoint and left him bound, gagged and lying on a junk heap. Cliff Parker reported theft of $10 and some silver. His taxi, stolen by the robbers, was later recovered.

Dominion Fulfills Wheat Contract

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada fulfilled her obligation to deliver 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour to Britain in this second crop year of their four-year agreement, Trade Minister Howe said today.

The crop year will end tomorrow. The contract price was $1.55 a bushel for each for the first two years. Beginning Monday, Aug. 1, it will rise to $2 a bushel for the third year. Price for the fourth year will be negotiated before the end of this year, but will not be less than $1.

U.S. To Forego Veto Powers In Danube Parley

BELGRADE (AP)—The United States disclosed today its decision to forego any attempt to obtain veto powers in the 11-power conference on control of Danube River shipping.

Ambassador Cavendish Cannon, chief U.S. delegate, told a press conference that "we are going to be consistent" on that point, even though the western powers are outnumbered at this Belgrade conference. Most of the 11 conferring countries are in the Russian orbit.

Cannon expressed cautious hope the conference would succeed in opening the key waterway of central Europe, on which thousands of barges now lie idle and empty.

AUSTRIA NOT VOTING

The conference itself begins late today, the initial meeting being devoted to organization. Britain, the United States, Russia, France and the small countries through which the Danube flows are represented. Austria has no vote. The Communist countries thus have a two-thirds majority if they act as they have in other international meetings as a unit.

The Yugoslavs indicated they will demand the Danube countries hold exclusive rights to control Danube River navigation "without foreign interference."

Cancel Troop Call As Strike Disorder At Dayton Subsidies

DAYTON, O. (AP)—City officials informed Governor Thomas J. Herbert today that disorders at the strike-bound Univis Co. plant had subsided and there was no immediate need for troops.

Earlier, Mayor Louis Lohrey had asked the governor to send troops here after street fighting had broken out between pickets and employees seeking to return to work.

For the fifth consecutive day several hundred employees were attempting to resume work.

Police broke up street fighting between pickets and non-strikers by exploding tear gas bombs. Heavy police squadrons again forced a path through the picket line and by 9 a.m., the company said 217 employees had entered the plant.

At least three pickets and another man who was not identified were taken to police station. No casualties were reported.

Move To Arrange Establishment Of 10th Province

LONDON (Reuter)—The Canadian government is willing to arrange for the entry of Newfoundland into the Canadian Confederation and the British government is in agreement with this, it was officially announced in London tonight.

Latest figures in the recent Newfoundland referendum, with a few returns to come in, are: 77,814 for confederation with Canada and 71,258 for responsible government.

Following the return to Ottawa of a party of Canadian observers, headed by R. A. MacKay of the Commonwealth section of the External Affairs Department, the cabinet Thursday heard a report on Newfoundland.

It was said the observers had found a softening of anti-Confederation feeling among responsible government supporters.

A spokesman for the External

Affairs Department said that when the Governor of Newfoundland had notified the British and Canadian governments officially the results of the referendum, Canada probably would signify her willingness to open negotiations with a delegation from Newfoundland without delay to work out a constitutional procedure for transformation of the ancient colony into the 10th province.

Several Hospital Projects Slated With Federal Aid

Several B.C. hospital projects are planned which will receive assistance from the federal government's health grants announced today at Ottawa by Health Minister Paul Martin.

But Provincial Health Minister George S. Pearson said he is not in a position to reveal what these projects are at the present time. In commenting on the Ottawa announcement, Mr. Pearson warned that surveys of requirements will be required before assistance is received.

Mr. Martin had wired him that copies of orders-in-council giving the provisions for applications for grants have been mailed. Until Mr. Pearson has studied them he will not be able to give a definite expression of opinion. "But," he said, "Ottawa has insisted all along that surveys must be submitted."

He was unable to say if Royal Jubilee Hospital will receive aid in its conversion of the Strathcona wing into a children's ward. Cost of the work was estimated at $40,000, and $12,000 is still required. The provincial government is giving $13,000.

The $1,000 per bed for acute cases and $1,500 per bed for chronic cases under which hospital construction grants will be paid are only fractions of actual costs, the minister agreed. See Ottawa Story Page 11

Hungarian President Quits Son-In-Law Charged As Spy

BUDAPEST (AP)—President Zoltan Tildy of Hungary abdicated today. The Communist-dominated government had accused his son-in-law, minister of Egypt Victor Csorokny, of espionage and treason.

Tildy, a Methodist minister, belongs to the Smallholder Party, which had an elected majority before the Communist coup in May of last year. He was the first president of postwar Hungary and retained that office after the coup.

Tildy, however, had been under Communist pressure for a year or more.

Csorokny is under arrest. He resigned as Minister of Egypt Thursday, about two weeks after his return from Cairo.

Tildy, who was a member of the then-dominant Smallholders Party, became President of Hungary, Feb. 1, 1946, upon proclamation of the country as a Republic. He had been premier since the previous November.

There were reports last year that he was to be ousted by the Communists, but they did not materialize. Tildy paid a state visit to Moscow last February and was a guest of Prime Minister Stalin there during signing of a Soviet-Hungarian treaty.

A Methodist minister, the President was the only candidate for the Presidency at the time of his election, having the endorsement of all parties.

Hunt Missing Craft

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Coast Guardsmen today were searching eastern Lake Ontario for a tanker and barge reported missing. The tanker Alecia Ann Connors and the barge Arthur Herman left here Wednesday afternoon for Belleville, Ont., with 2,370 tons of molasses and 50 tons of furnace parts as cargo. Both ships are owned by the Connors Marine Company of New York.

Enough Butter For Alberta Tables

EDMONTON (CP)—Butter supplies in Alberta should be adequate next winter and spring although the rest of Canada may face a butter famine, an Alberta Dairy Commission official said today.

"Alberta production can meet local requirements although if shortages should develop elsewhere the normal amounts of butter for export from this province would be reduced."

The official was commenting on a Vancouver report that all Canada would face serious butter shortages next winter and spring.

Think 5 Robberies Solved By Arrests

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police believed today a wholesale police sweep Thursday may have solved at least five recent robberies.

Eight men were apprehended, five charged with robbery, and three held for questioning.

Most serious charge was laid against two men in connection with the attempted hold-up of a 34-year-old drugstore messenger last week.

Color Camera To Probe Sea 2 Miles Down For Denizens

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientific sea sleuths are going to try for unprecedented candid camera shots, in color, of the private lives of fish and other creatures two miles or more below the surface of the Atlantic.

The deep-sea snooping will be a top project this summer on the log of the research ship Atlantis—floating laboratory of an expedition that will renew studies on the mysterious "Mid-Atlantic Ridge."

That's an S-shaped undersea mountain range which extends in a nearly continuous line from Iceland almost to Antarctica. Some of its peaks break the surface to form such islands as the Azores and Ascension, but the crest is at an average depth of a mile below the surface.

The expedition is a joint project of the National Geographic Society, the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution, and Columbia University. Dr. Maurice Ewing, Columbia geologist and oceanographer, is head man.

Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, who announced the new venture, said that in addition to seeking color shots of what's doing in fishland about two miles down, the scientists will try for black-and-white photos at even greater depths.

TO SHOOT "BLIND"

If the scientists get their color pictures at the projected depths, it will be a feather in their caps, because hitherto the only color photos of marine life have been taken at very shallow depths. However, they will literally be shooting "blind."

Special camera riggings—equipped with water-tight metal housing and extra powerful flashlight bulbs—will be lowered. But, when the cameramen aboard the Atlantis trip their shutters by remote control, they'll have no way of telling whether the fish are "on location"—or off to lunch.

Here are some other projects on which the scientists will work:

1. They're going to map part of the sunken mountain chain which is one of the world's last geographic frontiers. Complete mapping of the range is expected to take years.

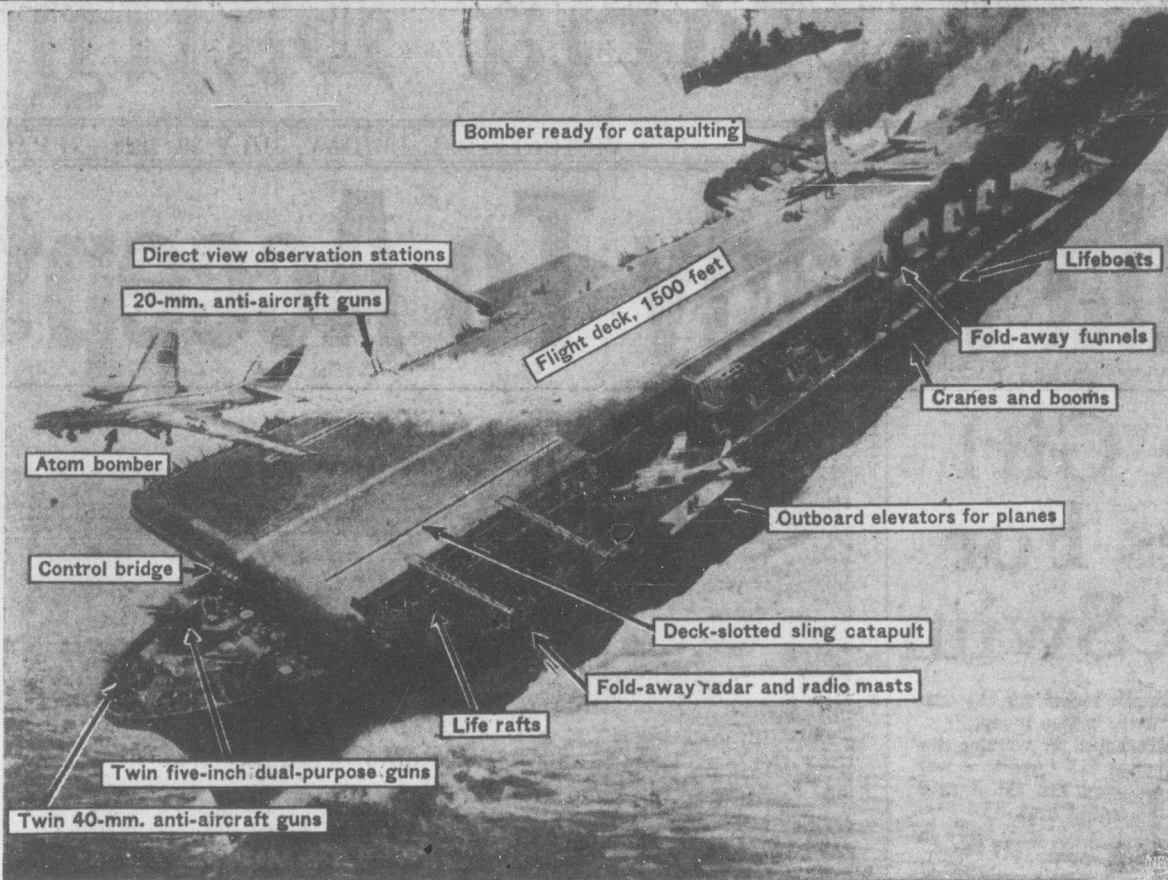

DELVING INTO PAST

2. They hope to wrest secret of the planet's geological past—and perhaps a hint of its future—from the oozy sediment deposited along the steep flanks and in the unexplored canyons of the range. The scientists will lower a long tube into this sediment—and bring up "cores" of it.

3. They will seek new information on the radioactivity which was noted to some degree in sediment samples obtained last year.

4. They'll do some deep-sea trawling to trap specimens of life in the lower reaches of the sea, and also dredge for rocks and other material valuable for study in oceanographic laboratories.

5. They'll seek new evidence toward settling the riddle of the origin of the Mid-Atlantic Ridge. The first two months of the expedition will be spent in the North Atlantic, ranging southward to the Azores. Later the Atlantis will head for more southerly waters for a look at the ridge off the western bulge of Africa, then off the northeast bulge of South America.

Canada's Deepsea Ship Tonnage Five Times Greater Than Prewar

Tonnage of Canada's ocean-going vessels now is five times as great as it was before World War II.

Emerging from the war as a leading industrial and trading nation, the Dominion has a merchant fleet larger than ever before in her peacetime history.

Total Canadian tonnage—of vessels of more than 500 gross tons—now is about 1,900,000 tons, compared with 1,000,000 in 1939. Ocean-going tonnage is 1,113,000, a big jump over the prewar figure of 227,000. Coastal craft has a total gross tonnage of 150,000; vessels on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River total 627,000 gross tons.

War-time experience is a big factor in the efforts to bolster Canada's peacetime commercial position.

THREE TIMES PREWAR

Of the 17,000,000 tons of exports which left the Dominion's ocean ports last year, almost 18 per cent—three times the prewar amount—was carried in Canadian vessels.

Meanwhile, ships of Canadian registry brought more than Canadian merchant fleet was the recent announcement that Park vessels, built by the government during the war and sold since to private Canadian operators, now may be offered for sale on the open market.

The original sales stipulated that Park ships were to be operated only under Canadian registry. By the new order, they now may be sold to non-Canadian concerns on condition that proceeds of sales be used for acquisition of modern, Canadian-built vessels.

This arrangement will lend a helping hand, too, to the shipyards, which knew lean years before the war.

The Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association said in its recent annual report that Canadian yards last year built a greater variety of ocean-going ships than in any previous year. Total tonnage for delivery this year will exceed 200,000 gross tons, worth more than $90,000,000.

138 Dead, 250 Missing, New Estimate Of Toll In Blast

LUDWIGSHAVEN, Germany (AP)—Weeping German women waited today as working parties gouged into the I. G. Farben chemical plant wreckage for bodies of men missing in Wednesday's disastrous explosion.

Latest official French and German count of casualties in Europe's biggest postwar catastrophe showed:

Known dead 138, 200 to 250 missing and possibly dead, more than 2,300 injured.

During the night five more injured workers died at Mannheim Hospital. U.S. chaplains and German clergymen planned a memorial service today in Mannheim for the victims of the explosion.

French and German rescue workers dug into the twisted mass of wreckage. They pulled out arms and legs and hideous cinders of men trapped by the blast that destroyed 16 buildings of Germany's biggest chemical plant.

U.S. troops who took part in rescue and fire-fighting work had returned to their zone. The Americans withdrew when French soldiers said their "gallant services" no longer were needed.

CHARGES DISMISSED

Germans investigating the disaster brushed aside charges by Communist newspapers in Berlin that the factory was making war materials illegally. The Germans said preliminary findings indicated the blast was touched off by ethyl chloride, an industrial chemical. A chemist who worked at the plant said only industrial products were turned out there.

French officials are making a separate inquiry. The plant is in the French occupation zone. German officials at the factory made the surprising announcement Thursday that the sprawling plant still was operating at 50 per cent of capacity. First reports were that it was 80 per cent destroyed.

Awaiting Appeal, Convict Recaptured After Fleeing Jail

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Vernon Welch, who escaped Thursday from the Elgin County jail at St. Thomas, Ont., was captured today in downtown Toronto in a stolen automobile.

Police said he was arrested in a parking lot in an automobile stolen from Hamilton this morning.

Police said they believed Welch had an accomplice in his escape. A St. Thomas woman reported seeing an automobile parked near the jail at the time of his escape. Although Welch had no money in his pockets at the time of his arrest he told police he had eaten three meals since Thursday afternoon.

Welch, awaiting an appeal verdict from a 10-year sentence for manslaughter, sealed the 18-foot stone wall of the Elgin County jail early Thursday afternoon with the aid of a clothesline.

The Second World War veteran was convicted last March in connection with the strychnine-death of his 31-year-old wife, Florence. He was first charged with murder, but was convicted of manslaughter when the charge was reduced.

Boys, 9, 11, Slew Sister, Police Say

MOOREHEAD, Minn. (AP)—Two boys aged nine and 11 will face charges of delinquency in juvenile court for the fatal beating of their two-year-old sister. Police said the unidentified boys beat their sister to death with a hoe handle because "she wouldn't stop crying."

Israel Makes New Demand For Palestine Territory

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel has demanded new territories in Palestine, perhaps including Jerusalem, as a result of Jewish victories over Arab armies.

Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok served notice of the Jewish demands Thursday in an address before the Israeli State Council. He said:

"The Arabs are responsible that the boundaries fixed by the United Nations no longer are practical and we must insist on changing them by adding territories and not by diminishing them."

Shertok said Israel planned immediate steps to place Jerusalem under Jewish sovereignty.

Shertok also told the 37-member council that:

1. Israeli authorities will refuse to permit the return of any of the 300,000 Arab refugees to their Palestinian homes until their status can be considered as part of a minority question, including the status of Jews in Arab states.

2. Israel will demand "heavy indemnities" from the Arabs in peace negotiations for what he called "hundreds of millions of dollars lost by direct war expenses."

He reiterated previous appeals to the Arabs to negotiate directly Jewish-Arab differences as "co-partners of equal rights and sovereignty."

World War and rose to the rank of captain. Following his war service he studied at Queen's University, Kingston, graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Mr. Scarrett then came directly to Victoria and has been prominent in the life of this city since 1920. He was active in many church organizations and served as scout commissioner for several years. He taught for a short time at Collegiate School after coming to Victoria and then joined the staff of University School in 1920.

He was a member of the Royal Society of Teachers of Great Britain and of the Canadian Headmasters' Conference. He was also a member of the Pacific Club in Victoria.

Mr. Scarrett was ordained in the ministry of the Church of England in Christ Church Cathedral, three years ago, and nine years previously was ordained in the Reformed Episcopal Church.

A short funeral service will be held at Hayward's Ltd. B.C. Funeral Company Monday afternoon at 3, followed by a final service at St. Luke's Church. Interment will be in St. Luke's Cemetery. Dr. T. Stannage Boyle and Rev. Frederic Pike will officiate.

Subsidy On Flour Planned To Curb Bread Price Rise

OTTAWA (CP)—Government action in the form of a flour subsidy likely will be instituted this week-end to curb a possible rise in the price of bread when wheat goes up to $2 a bushel Aug. 1.

At the same time it was believed possible the government soon will announce its withdrawal of $15,000,000-a-year subsidies on oils and fats, required in the manufacture of soap and shortening.

The new price of wheat which is an increase from $1.55 a bushel results from the Canadian contract with the United Kingdom. It is applicable to sales to Canadian millers as well.

The bread subsidy, it was learned, may take the form of a refund to the millers from the federal treasury.

Action on other grains may be in the form of new floor prices for oats and barley, it was intimated Thursday.

Removal of the $5 ceiling on flax Aug. 1 was announced by Trade Minister Howe last March. He said this grain could be sold on the open market with the government giving it support should its price fall to $4 a bushel.

There were also indications that the week-end's announcements may bring about some relaxation of Canada's controls on the export of cattle to the United States, rent restrictions, limited imports of vegetables and fruits from the U.S. and then prohibition or limit of imports of much industrial and commercial equipment.

U.S. Orders Study Of Dachau Trials

WASHINGTON (CP)—A special survey of the trials of German war criminals at Dachau, Germany, has been ordered by Army Secretary Kenneth Royall.

Royall said Thursday a number of defendants there have filed appeals to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Justice Gordon Simpson of the Texas Supreme Court left by plane Wednesday to review the American military tribunals.

Royall's announcement said a number of petitions were filed by persons convicted of war crimes, asking leave to file petitions for an original writ of habeas corpus.

Art And Marriage Don't Mix Says Opera Singer

"Art and marriage don't mix"—but for Rita Georg, a leading star at Folies Bergere, it is an exception to the rule.

"Art is very jealous," said the actress-singer who arrived here today to take part in a leading role for "The Great Waltz," which opens at the Starlight Theatre Monday. "Art and marriage don't mix. You must be free to pursue your career."

She was asked to account for her marriage.

"That's different," she said with a smile. "I'm happily married."

Speaking with a soft, broken accent, the singer said music was attaining a high level in Europe, particularly in Vienna.

On her recent visit to Europe, she said she noticed many up-and-coming young artists. She believed that within the next few years they would make themselves felt on an international scale.

The artist, who was billed as leading lady with Richard Tauber in Vienna and at the Salzburg, Austria, musical festival, was imprisoned in Holland during the war. Her husband served in the army.

"Art is recovering in Europe," she said. "In a few years European culture will be just as active as it was before."

She said many young artists were "trying to come to North America, particularly the United States. I think with a little effort, Canada could attract many of them to settle here," she said.

The singer can speak several languages fluently. During her conversation she switched to French, German and Italian. "Oh! I forgot sometimes that people can't understand French," she said. "Living in Europe you learn to speak several languages without difficulty."

First Polio Case Originating On V.I.

A four-year-old Port Alberni boy has been stricken with poliomyelitis, the provincial health department reported. It is the first confirmed case originating on Vancouver Island.

Seven cases in British Columbia have been reported so far this week, one each from Vancouver, Port Moody and Fort St. John and three from Dawson Creek.

The outbreak of the disease so far has been mainly confined to Peace River District, where 30 cases have been reported out of a total of 40 in the rest of the province.

To Discuss Race

A meeting will be held at the Trades and Labor Hall, 602 Broughton Street, at 8 p.m. Aug. 2 to discuss the annual predicted power boat race of the Capital City Yacht Club to Friday Harbor on Aug. 7.

Invitations have been extended to all Pacific Northwest Yacht Clubs to take part in the race which is open for all cruisers. Altogether 40 boats so far are taking part in this event.

The race will start from the Seattle area. Entries from the Canoe Cove Yacht Club and Royal Victoria Yacht Club are expected to take part in the event.

Defence Minister's Deputy Here Today

CHALLENGE TO VICTORIA

FOR MANY YEARS ADVOCATES OF A continued intensive campaign to bring tourists to Victoria have deplored the fact that there existed little in this community to hold the visitor for more than a few days. The validity of this complaint, of course, naturally depended upon the point of view of the holidaymaker. But much could be said in support of this apprehensive attitude of mind on the part of those desirous of enhancing this capital city's popularity with folk from other parts.

We refer to this aspect of local community interest because of a few facts which Mr. W. C. Malinwaring, president of the Victoria Theatre Foundation, brought to the attention of the public in a statement published in Wednesday's issue of the Times. Reduced to a few words, he said that unless a much more generous support is given to productions of the Starlight Theatre than has been given to date, the organization which has been largely instrumental in forming might have to wind up its business at the end of the present season. This would entail the disastrous confession that this latest attempt to cater to both the local population and the visitors in our midst during the summer months had failed of its objective.

It would be a sad day for Victoria if the news were to go to the outside world that one of the richest per capita communities in the whole of the Dominion of Canada could not support—or could not support it adequately in the financial sense—a cultural movement such as that represented by the Victoria Theatre Foundation and, of course, other bodies that are devoting time and talent to the supply of worthwhile attractions in the entertainment world.

It is only necessary to add to the foregoing that it is not a bit of use Victorians complaining when visitors criticize a lack of support for cultural innovations if they, themselves, do not manifest to the stranger within their gates their belief in and support of local initiative.

NEXT MOVE

MOST CANADIANS WILL HOPE THAT the people and government of Newfoundland will apply to the administration at Ottawa for the right to become the tenth province of Canada. We put it this way because Mr. Mackenzie King stated recently that he would hesitate formally to invite the Newfoundlanders into the Canadian Confederation unless he felt that a sufficiently substantial majority of the people of the colony desired to exchange their political status for one of full association with the Dominion.

According to advices from Ottawa, there is every prospect that within the next day or so Mr. King will have some announcement to make, especially in view of the fact that the Prime Minister considers the majority registered by the Newfoundlanders at last week's referendum to come within his concept of "substantial". What must not be forgotten, however, is that a very large body of public opinion in Newfoundland still desires responsible government—meaning that the colony should maintain its reliance in itself and its people. This not inconsiderable point of view, on the other hand, will not be taken as an indication that should their absorption by and into the Dominion of Canada become a fait accompli, such an attitude would remain as a militant factor against friendly association with their fellow Canadians.

AN EYE TO MODERNIZATION

TO WHAT DEGREE NATIONAL PRIDE will frustrate the proposal of Sir Stafford Cripps, that Britain seek the advice of United States experts to increase its industrial production, can only be guessed at this point. It will appear to the open-minded, however, that the brilliant British statesman, in whom has been reposed wide authority for the treatment of his country's economic ills, is not the type of man to suggest the peaceful subjugation of his people to another power, however friendly. On the face of it, Sir Stafford's plan appears to have many advantages. No individual or nation has a monopoly on brains. Some have advanced further in technical fields than others, and some have the ability to apply new techniques which they have developed and which have not been thoroughly understood by those whose thought processes and experiments have been conducted along different lines.

As far as British production is concerned, an instance of possible improvement in method was suggested by one of British Columbia's business leaders who recently visited the United Kingdom. The individual in question wished to secure a new machine for his particular industry. He found one of plastic construction—a product of the Midlands—that suited his needs. When the equipment was assembled for his use, he discovered the type of construction was such that it would last a lifetime. But the Victoria businessman was quick to appreciate the fact that the machine would become obsolete before it was worn out. He was unable, however, to convince the manufacturer that cheaper construction would have provided an adequate piece of equipment at a lower price, and would have relieved the purchaser of junking a machine that would still be in good working order many years hence when the efficiency of its design had been surpassed by a newer model.

We mention this instance merely to illustrate the difficulties that can arise in a highly-competitive world from the practice of making things to last too long. What was completely adequate in grandfather's day, is not necessarily satisfactory to the present age, even if the quality of workmanship two generations ago produced something that will not wear out. To what degree has this inclination to emphasize durability resulted in the obsolescence reportedly so widespread in such fields as coal mining in Britain?

This is not to decry quality workmanship. It is intended, on the other hand, to suggest that different approaches to the business of tooling up an industry with an eye to present and future needs may be beneficial. If Sir Stafford Cripps believes that advice from American specialists can assist Britain in this particular, consideration, not hostility, should be accorded his view. High critical faculties should be applied to any suggestions for improving British industry, and obviously not all of the plans that might be advanced would be beneficial. But no justification can exist for the type of mind which is too proud to learn.

EMPHASIZING THE CASE

FURTHER EMPHASIS IS LENT TO THE case for British Columbia's hospital insurance plan, effective at the beginning of next year, by the application made this week by the Royal Jubilee Hospital to the city for assistance to meet the deficit which has grown out of operating expenses for the last six months. It appears obvious that the Jubilee, like other similar curative establishments, is going into the red under the present dispensation through no fault of administration. Costs are continuing to rise. Revenues at present cannot keep pace. The explanation is not difficult to find. Individuals in urgent need of hospitalization cannot be refused admittance merely because their economic standing furnishes no guarantee that the bills incurred during treatment will or can be paid.

The problem of the hospital, of course, is immediate. It must meet tradesmen's accounts, higher professional and labor costs, and the bills for expensive equipment and supplies. Default in these particulars would not only reduce efficiency and service, but could jeopardize the entire operation of the institution. The present unsatisfactory state of affairs cannot, however, continue. Under the insurance plan many of the difficulties will be overcome. It is true, of course, that some citizens may pay premiums for years on end without receiving direct benefits. They will be the fortunate ones not subject to the financially crippling blows of illness or injury requiring hospital attention. Should that category be uninfluenced by an appreciation of their own good luck, on the other hand, they will be required to see the scheme as an essential public service. Unquestionably the time is long past when hospitals here and elsewhere in British Columbia should be required to dissipate their energies in a struggle to keep their heads above the financial tide. Their job is to render assistance to the ailing. When they are constantly confronted with unpaid bills they cannot devote their capacities wholly to the primary task before them.

When the new scheme is placed in operation, it will not constitute a Roman holiday for all who would appreciate the rest and recuperative service that a hospital can give. It will, however, furnish a means by which hospital treatment will be available to all who need it without placing the survival of such institutions in danger.

MONEY TO SPEND

RETURNS OF THE CHARTERED BANKS to the Department of Finance at Ottawa disclose that savings deposits as of April 30 were at the record high level of $3,951,001,000. The gain over the same date last year, when such deposits stood at $3,637,279,000, was $313,722,000, while the gain over the previous month was $24,317,000. Demand deposits, standing at $2,223,077,000 on April 30, showed a gain of $56,911,000 over the corresponding date of 1947, and a gain of $22,435,000 over the previous month.

The total of current loans, after registering declines in both February and March as compared with the next preceding month, moved up again in April. At the end of that month, outstanding current loans amounted to $1,851,330,000, an increase over the previous month of $7,059,000, and over April 30, 1947, of $270,175,000, when the total of current loans stood at $1,581,155,000. Call loans at the end of April of this year amounted to $75,511,000, showing an increase over the previous month of $10,853,000, but $21,505,000 below the total of $97,016,000 as of the end of April a year ago.

Municipal loans reached a total of $59,778,000 as of April 30. Such borrowings increased by $2,049,000 over March and were $17,708,000 above the total of $42,070,000 on April 30 of last year. Pending the issue of debentures and long term bonds many municipalities are borrowing to finance repairs and local improvements delayed during the war years. The figure of $59,778,000 is still well below that of $119,900,000 for municipal borrowings at the high point reached at the end of May in the prewar year of 1939.

Nation Of Farmers

By EDWARD HODGKIN From London

NAPOLEON called the English a nation of shopkeepers, but in point of fact the largest single industry of Britain is the same today as it was in Napoleon's day—and that industry is not shopkeeping, or mining, or shipbuilding, but farming. It may take a war to remind the people of Britain of the truth of this statement; but now it looks as though it will be many years before the world food situation is rosy enough for us in Britain to be able to relax our efforts to grow all the food that we possibly can.

IT MAY BE because all in Britain now realize the importance of home farming that this year's Royal Agricultural Show was the most successful that has ever been held. The "Royal," as it is usually called, is a country fair on a grand scale. Almost every country town in Britain—or anywhere else in the world for that matter—puts on a show in the summer where farm folk can combine business with pleasure, where animals and machines can be bought and sold by the men while their wives and children have their fortunes told, or guess, for a prize, the weight of a cake, enter a bowling competition for which the prize is a pig. The "Royal" does for England what these small fairs do for each district. It is held in a different town each year; last year it was Lincoln, this year at York, and next year it will move further south again, to Shrewsbury.

TO GIVE SOME idea of the size of the show, which went on for four days, 237,827 people paid to visit it—and that in spite of the rain and cold winds which made July the worst from the point of view of weather for 60 years. The showground itself covered 100 acres and took 10 months to prepare. It would have been a waste of time even to contemplate counting the cattle, horses, sheep, pigs and pieces of machinery—let alone the goats, bees and other eccentrics in the Show.

Among all those thousands of visitors there must, obviously, have been a large proportion who were not farmers, and who own no more land than you could get into a window-box. It is certainly the support of the townsman which makes the Show a financial success, just as it is the support of the farmers which makes it a practical success. For the townsman there were riding and jumping competitions to watch, a flower show, poultry trussing contests, and so on. But the real business of the Show was done by the experts, armed with a catalogue and an order book, and the amount of business done was impressive.

IT IS NOT YET possible to give exact figures for the amount of business the Show brought in for United Kingdom farmers and manufacturers. There were many buyers from overseas, both individuals and government representatives. The Russians, for example, placed orders which are believed to be worth well over £100,000. They bought prize-winning Berkshire and large white boars, as well as Hereford, dairy shorthorn and beef shorthorn cattle. What gave buyers as much satisfaction as anything was to find that there was no longer a long waiting list for the delivery of machinery. Most implements, dairy equipment, poultry houses, pig houses and so on, were available right away, although in some cases the rush for orders was so great that delivery dates had to be put back a few weeks toward the end of the Show. The machinery was shown with an eye to the man whose farm is still not 100 per cent mechanized, but for those with already well mechanized farms there were novelties such as a crop mover designed to shift hay in the swathe, or load it into a vehicle, by a strong blast of air.

WHAT IS BEHIND this new interest in home agriculture in Britain? Is it a wartime boom, based on inflated prices and restricted markets? Fortunately the farmers have a more solid reason for satisfaction than that. Much of the uncertainty of their lives has been removed by a government guarantee of minimum prices and assured markets for their produce. In exchange, the farmers have to provide what amounts to a guarantee of efficiency. The form this guarantee takes is the existence of what are called County Agricultural Committees, which leave good farmers to get on with the job, but have the power to spur on the not-so-good. If a farmer falls below a reasonable standard, the committee will step in to tell him how he could make better use of his land.

The agricultural land of Britain works out at only some half-an-acre a head of population. But the average amount of land required to feed every man, woman and child in the country is reckoned at about one and a half acres. This means that every field—every back garden even—in Britain is precious and we cannot afford the risk of wasting any of it. If farming is going to be recognized once more as the basis of the nation's life (as it should be), then farmers are bound to have more duties, as well as more rights.

BRITAIN'S farmers have no objection to that. There was a new energy and a new enthusiasm at the "Royal" in York this year. It will be an even better show next year. As Lord Halifax, the president of the Show said, it has grown from a national into an international event. "There are many of us," said Lord Halifax, "who hope that relations between Commonwealth agricultural organizations may be so cemented as to lead to more exchanges of visits and even of exhibits."

Having More By Making Less?

Saturday Evening Post

IT HAS BECOME a common place with post-Roosevelt politicians that every American has a "right" to a good house, or a "right" to inexpensive medical care, or a "right" to a standard of living represented by a salary of $5,000 a year, or a "right" to "the good things of life at prices he can afford to pay."

This idea of a right to material things would have mystified people 300 years ago, or even 30. Our own American pioneers sacrificed heroically for the right to worship God as they pleased, or for the right not to have the king's men quartered in their houses, or for the right to be represented in the assessment of taxes laid upon them. But in Jamestown Plantation, Capt. John Smith is commonly supposed to have limited the right to eat to those who were willing to work. It is not recorded that this dictum caused any special surprise or that Smith was denounced as a reactionary or a "social Fascist."

BEWILDERING

Even more bewildering to a pioneer would have been the currently prevailing notion on how to realize these "rights." To assure the right of every American family to decent food we proceed to close down the meat-packing industry by a strike. The right to a decent home is implemented through a mess of feather-bedding by labor and chiseling by certain contractors and suppliers which make it all but hopeless for anybody to build a house. But when we talk about correcting this, we do nothing to eliminate stand-bys on building jobs or the boycotts of material manufacturers who haven't paid tribute to the right people. Instead, we expect to remedy the trouble by "political action"; that is, by spending billions of tax dollars to freeze into the system the very rackets causing the trouble.

People 300 years ago would be mystified by a generation which expects to enforce the "right" to a high standard of living by closing down the nation's coal mines, railroads, packing houses and automobile plants. Capt. John Smith's bustling workers and the settlers in equally "reactionary" New England would not have understood how people could have more things by producing fewer.

Probably the change in the attitude toward a man's "economic rights" is due to the greater complexity of our economy today. Capt. John Smith's hard scrabblers could see for themselves that if they didn't get the timber cleared from the land there would be no place to plant corn, and if the corn wasn't planted, nobody would eat. Consequently, a man who demanded his right to eat something that could not exist unless he planted it would not have been taken for an intellectual.

There is, of course, a psychological explanation for these heresies. In a division-of-labor economy, few workers have much opportunity to understand the real significance of what they do every day. The modern worker, toiling, or maybe loafing, at one small turn of the screw in a complicated industrial process, cannot be blamed too much if he doesn't relate his tasteless activity to the house he would like to live in or to the steak he would like for supper. The boring and monotonous part of his life he associates with the company which employs him. The good things of life he feels are the result of political action and union solidarity.

EXCUSE

It is hard to blame Modern Man for divorcing his work from his "life" in this fashion, although he does tend to forget that there was a lack of intellectual stimulation in the hard, back-breaking labor of the past. After all, the first acts of separation were performed by industrial engineering, which has made it possible for a man to earn for himself a lot more than he ever could before, but which at the same time robbed him of the satisfaction that comes from making something and watching it grow.

Of course, there are still a lot of old-fashioned fellows in the shop who may or may not be fascinated by tossing rivets in a boiler factory, but are entranced by the idea of a home of their own, a savings account and a better job. They want what the union leaders say they ought to want, but don't believe they'll get it by cutting down production. A symposium in any plant would uncover a lot of Capt. John Smith understanding that you can't eat your cake while picketing the bakery and that it's you, not your congressman, who improves the standard of living. There might be even more of this sentiment if something more effective could be done by way of making dull jobs just a little less dull.

'Swan Of Seas' Back To Duty

Norway Digest

NORWAY'S famous training ship, the full-rigged Christian Radich was only two years old, built as she was in 1937 in Sandefjord, well-known whaling town of Norway. Her dimensions are: length 192.1 ft., breadth 32 ft. and depth 16 ft. She is built of steel, is a frigate with two decks, has double bottom tanks for fresh water and salt water ballast and five watertight transverse bulkheads. The machinery consists of a 222 h.p. single diesel engine, and electric lights, refrigerating machinery for provisions and wireless telegraph are installed.

During the German occupation the Christian Radich was seized by the Nazis, shamefully treated, and found nearly a complete wreck in Flensburg, Germany, when the war was over. The Norwegians spent half a million kroner to restore their stately pride of the merchant marine to her former grace and have now returned her to service.

The summer cruise started on June 2 when the Christian Radich left Oslo for Madeira, following which skipper Brækhus and his 99 charges pointed for New York. From here the training ship will move on to Leith, Scotland, and then return to Norwegian waters. En route the young crew is taught all phases of seamanship, from theoretical and practical navigation to the cooking of solid meals, above all the traditional seaman's stew of peas and pork.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

THE CURRENT international tension was strikingly dramatized in yesterday's session of the House of Commons when Ernest Bevin, Britain's barrel-chested, two-fisted Foreign Secretary, took the floor to tell of new Allied efforts to pave the way for peace.

Bevin, faced with the fact that United States Ambassador Bedell Smith had just arrived in Moscow with the plans of the western powers for a verbal approach to considering a halt in the demobilization of the Russian army, was careful not to say anything which would jeopardize the Allied move.

Bevin made one startling revelation in stating that Britain is in a position to bring about a cessation of her armed forces because of the tension between Russia and the west. He was, I take it, killing two birds with one stone: He was letting the public in on a momentous secret, and was tipping the Russians that John Bull really means business.

MEETING SOON

British, French and American ambassadors in Moscow are expected to meet with Molotov in the immediate future. We may assume that the ambassadors first will make it clear that the democracies take the following stand:

They will not get out of Berlin. They will not be high-pressed by Russia into negotiating over the problems of Berlin or over any other broader questions. Before there can be any negotiations the Soviet Union must lift its food blockade of Berlin.

It has been reported, but not confirmed, that the three Allies are prepared to negotiate other broader European questions with Moscow if and when the German question is ironed out. That would, of course, all at settling the cold war in Europe.

WHAT ARE PROSPECTS?

And what are the prospects? It is possible that the Russians may decide to make some concessions in Berlin in order to ease a situation which is squeezing them as well as the western allies.

The best that might be got out of the Russians at this juncture would be a truce.

The Communists are not ready for peace. We must not forget that the Russians are embarked on a do-or-die world revolution to set up Communist governments in all countries.

They may make a local truce to further their own interests, but they won't quit trying to Sovietize the world.

CONSIDERATION FIRST

Ottawa Citizen

Canada in the long run, no doubt, will find it to her gain and advantage to join in the defence of the strongholds of democracy in Europe. Already she has bound herself by a similar obligation to the United Nations. But action can only follow after consideration. And that consideration has not been given yet either by the Canadian people or their Parliament.

FORMIDABLE JOB

Halifax Herald

Republican nominee Dewey proposes "to make the U.S. Presidency and the Vice-Presidency a real, working partnership."

How Mr. Dewey will go about his "reform" is not indicated. Up to this time there has been nothing quite so colorless and innocuous in American life as the Vice-Presidency of the United States.

Actually, no one hears very much about the Vice-President's candidature—and less about the Vice-President himself, unless and until Fate conspires to put him into presidential office.

Governor Dewey has a job on his hands, extracting sunbeams from cucumber patches.

TITO'S TROUBLES

Winnipeg Free Press

If Marshal Tito's Communism is anything like his geography, then, there may be something to the Cominform complaint. Recently, the Marshal charged Greece with border violations. He did his best to put in correct diplomatic form, giving the position of the Greek trouble down to degrees and minutes. According to this . . .

... two Greek planes of the Spitfire type flew over sector 1715 of the Yugoslav territory situated 91 degrees 30 minutes longitude, and 40 degrees 59 minutes 15 seconds latitude.

As the puzzled Greeks pointed out to the U.N., this is not in Greece, but in Mongolia, near the Sinkiang River, fairly close to the Karouk Dang mountains.

Coalition In Ire United In Fighting De Valera's Return

DUBLIN (CP)—Eire's coalition government is united in a determination to keep Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party from returning to office.

Five parties and a group of independents give the government party a membership of 76 in the Dail, compared with 67 for Fianna Fail, which also has the uncertain support of three independents.

So far members of the coalition have been content to sink their differences in a union which put an end to De Valera's 16-year premiership. Their new policies seem to be finding favor with the public and unless a cabinet rift develops they may be able to hold office for a full five-year term.

Any signs of internal disagreement are closely watched and considerable excitement was created by the expulsion recently of Capt. Peadar Cowan from the Clan Na Poblachta (the New Republican Party).

DISLOYALTY ALLEGED

Cowan was ejected on the motion of the party leader, Foreign Minister Sean MacBride, by 35 votes to 5. MacBride complained Cowan had been disloyal to his party by voting in the Dail against Eire's participation in the Marshall Plan, although he had not previously expressed opposition.

Cowan, who incidentally was the only member of the Dail to vote against the Irish-American agreement providing Marshall aid, is not thought likely to throw his influence against the inter-party government, as he is a steadfast opponent of the De Valera regime.

As far as the electorate is concerned, the inter-party government had made a good start by its trade pact with Britain, which has pleased the farmers. Retrenchments, like cancellation of plans for an Atlantic air service, have been welcomed, and labor generally is well pleased by social service and health plans.

The flesh of the kangaroo is nutritious and savory, resembling mutton, the tail especially being considered a delicacy.

TOURISTS ADMIRE MALAHAT SCENIC VIEW—Mr. and Mrs. John Herring, McMinning, Ore., and children, Jack, Allan and Janice, admire scenic grandeur of Saanich Inlet from Malahat Chalet Wednesday afternoon. This is the first visit of Herring's to Victoria. They leave today to explore up-island beauty spots.

Second Dentist Needed By Hudson Bay Indians

MOONSONEE, Ont. (CP)—White man's food and modern eating habits are ruining the teeth of Canada's northern Indians. That's the opinion of a government dentist and a tooth-pulling bishop.

The dentist is the Department of Indian Affairs' Dr. J. A. Ross, formerly of Lindsay, Ont. The prelate who practices amateur dentistry in an emergency, is bearded Most Rev. Henri Belleau, Roman Catholic Missionary Bishop of James Bay.

Dr. Ross is completing a dental survey among several thousand Cree Indians living on the sub-Arctic shores of James Bay and Hudson Bay.

"I've found the Indians' change from a primitive to modern diet has caused a decided breakdown in their teeth," said Dr. Ross. "I hope to make some recommendations to remedy the situation."

Dr. Ross said once his report has been reviewed by the federal government, another dentist likely will be sent to lonely outposts scattered along some 1,500 miles of coastline, from this tiny Ontario northland railway terminal to where Hudson Bay joins the Arctic Ocean. This dentist would repair teeth of patients Dr. Ross had examined.

When Dr. Ross is away, Bishop Belleau pulls and fills teeth if he's asked by any of Moonsonnee's estimated 700 natives and few whites.

Bishop Belleau has modern dental equipment at the three-story hospital here, operated by the Grey Nuns of Ottawa. Dr. Ross has given him some instruction on the latest techniques.

"A specialist who came here several years ago told me that when he got away from white men's settlements, he found the Indians' teeth sound and healthy. But in civilization decay was prevalent," said the Bishop. "What ruins their teeth is too much sugary food. At stores and trading posts they gorge themselves on sweets and soda pop. But they consume this sugar not because of its taste but because their diet is incomplete. The sugar is a source of necessary heat an energy."

Aims To End Race Segregation In Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said Thursday his "equality of treatment and opportunity" order for the armed services was aimed at the eventual end of race segregation in the army.

Negroes are now kept in separate units in the army. The President said his Monday order aimed at a policy of equality of treatment and opportunity to be put into effect as soon as possible, "having due regard to the time required to effectuate any necessary changes without impairing efficiency or morale."

Regina Refuses To Remove Soviet Flag

REGINA (CP)—City officials Thursday rejected a private request that a Russian flag be removed from a group being used in street decorations during the current exhibition.

The offending flag is hanging in front of the federal building in downtown Regina.

Officials said there was no open break with Russia and therefore no reason to remove that country's flag. It was one of those purchased during the war years for decorative purposes.

Long Range Reorganization Plan For Australian Coal Mines

SYDNEY (Reuter) — While a coal shortage has curtailed Australian industry and caused the rationing of electricity and gas in several states, a long-range five-point plan for the coal-mining industry has been drawn up by I. Williams, federal president of the Miners' Federation.

The program provides for:

1. Reorganization of existing mines and equipment; provision of modern transport for miners living more than half a mile from the pits.
2. Amalgamation of groups of small mines to use manpower efficiently.
3. Improved conditions, including long-service leave and a 35-hour week to check the manpower drift and attract additional labor; provision of dining-rooms above and below ground, tea service and bathrooms.

4. New homes in mining areas; children's playgrounds, working men's clubs, community centres and swimming pools in coalfield towns.

The Joint Coal Board announced recently it would spend $250,000 ($1,000,000) on working men's clubs, swimming pools, sports fields, night tennis courts, children's playgrounds, baby health centres, community halls and other sporting and recreational facilities.

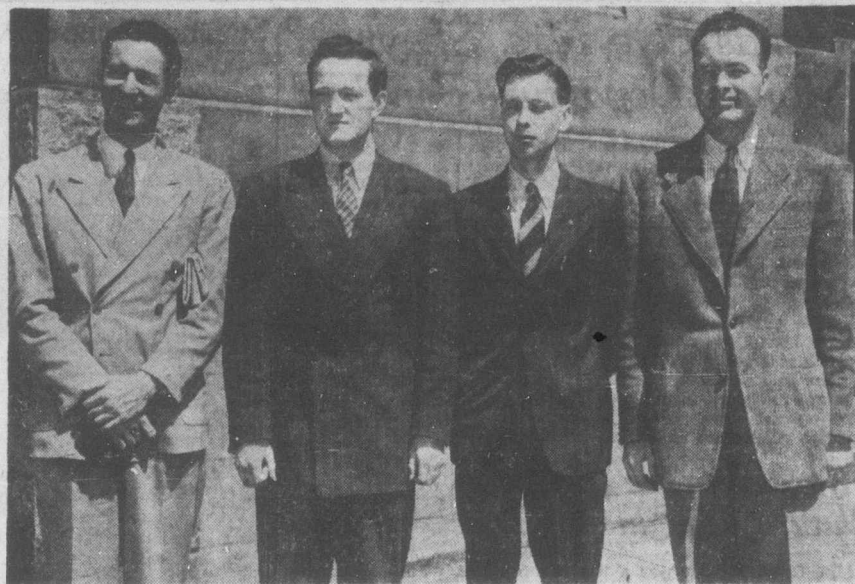

5. Intensification of water fusion to allay dust hazard.

TRY TO SOLVE PROBLEM

The board has already attacked the dust problem in the New South Wales southern field, and is extending its operations.

Williams produced a table to support his claim that miners are producing more coal now than at any time since 1926, with the exception of 1942.

In 1926, production by 24,781 men above and below the ground was 10,885,766 tons, an average of 439 tons a man. Last year, production by 17,400 men was 11,683,123 tons, an average of 663.

FLEDGLING LAWYERS—Four Victorians who will be called to the bar at ceremonies in Vancouver Saturday are shown prior to departing for the mainland city. Left to right, Perry S. Miller of the legal firm of Joseph McKenna; William J. Moresby of Moresby and Farr; John N. McIlree of McIlree and McIntyre, and Lloyd G. McKenzie of Harman and Sloan. The four are among a group of over 40 of the first law graduates of the University of British Columbia who received their degrees in May and will practice law in the province. Hugh Botterell, absent when this picture was taken, is the fifth young lawyer who will practice in the city. He will be with the law firm of Crease, Davey, Lawson, Davis, Gordon and Baker.

Expect Ottawa Announcements Will Influence Business

By CANADIAN PRESS

News of far-reaching importance to Canadian business promises to keep popping for the rest of the summer, after a July weighted with international crisis, rail strike threats and settlement, and divers matters affecting the industrial pulse.

This week-end will bring some announcements on remaining Canadian controls and associated matters. In the meantime, it was stated Thursday that some relief will be given to the nail shortage through diversion of quantities of steel rod to nail manufacturers.

Metal prices remain uneasy, reflecting increases in lead and zinc in the United States, suggestions of increases in copper, increases already announced in American steel, and in nickel in both countries.

Arguments will continue on the latest application for a railway freight rate increase, and the Royal Commission on prices will begin its hearings next Tuesday with a probe into chemical fertilizers.

MARKETS YESTERDAY

New York Stock Exchange prices dropped back Thursday, with little interest shown, the Associated Press 60-stock average losing 7. On the present state of the market one U.S. broker, as quoted by the Wall Street Journal, says:

"Certainly in this case the spot news seemed conspiratorily adverse, although in the fundamentals there was no change except the very basic one that every passing day brings us one day closer to the ultimate test of the market. How will it react to the first cold, cold dash of deflation? The action of many individual stocks and groups seems to confirm our view that the major trend is still upward."

Base metals made some progress in Toronto's quiet market

Thursday, and industrials were best in Montreal.

Grains were weak in both Chicago and Winnipeg. New York cotton futures were unchanged to 25 cents higher.

Civic Employees' Meeting Awaits Police Wage Report

Further city official-employee meetings to discuss proposed revision of the City Hall Employees' Association working agreement will await the arbitration board report on police wage increase requests, it was reported today.

First meeting of the city officials and a bargaining committee representing the association was held Wednesday and suggestions from both sides are now "under advisement" of the two parties.

The employees' association at the Wednesday meeting was represented by William Framp-ton, James Mars and William Black, bargaining agent for Vancouver civic employees.

The city was represented by Ald. C. E. Banfield, chairman; Mayor Percy George, Ald. F. N. Cabell and Ald. F. G. Mulliner, members of the civic service committee; A. J. Patton, city solicitor, and A. C. N. Smith, chief of the city's personnel department.

Chronic Emotions Harmful To Body

The link between mind and body is enhanced by avoiding mental strain—but ailments such as nervous and emotional tension and ulcers have nothing to do with a person's mental efficiency or insanity, Dr. E. N. East told members of the Rotary Club Thursday.

Speaking at the club's luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, Dr. East pointed out that ordinary nervousness of the type suffered by after-dinner speakers during their meal is not as harmful as the "chronic emotions" of anger, resentment, guilt and anxiety.

There is no division between mind and body, the speaker told Rotarians. They work as a unit and thus a man nowadays should be no more ashamed or afraid to visit a psychiatrist than he is to visit a physician.

Dr. East's advice for mental and physical health was to relax, take things easy when possible and to follow some sort of hobby.

Milk Supplying At Castlegar Regulated

A by-law governing the supplying of milk in the village of Castlegar near Nelson has been approved by a provincial government order-in-council.

The by-law calls for the medical health officer to act as milk inspector and provides for the licensing of producers and distributors.

Union To Take Action Against Beer Parlor

VANCOUVER (CP)—A case of alleged discrimination against a negro member of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) will be dealt with shortly by the Vancouver Labor Council.

William L. Symington, the union's international representative, said Thursday the negro, an executive member of union Local

Research Council Need Cascara Trees

The once-profitable cascara bark collecting business may come into its own again.

The B.C. Research Council is investigating the possibility of obtaining extracts of cascara from the wood of the tree with the hope that it will stimulate further collections and at the same time aid in conservation measures.

Extensive amounts of cascara bark were collected in the province until the ceiling price control placed on the commodity made collections unprofitable.

The experiments now being undertaken which, if successful, may result in a revival of the collections, require quantities of the wood and the council is seeking owners of property on which cascara trees grow so that the work can be furthered.

Such persons should contact S. E. Maddigan, director of the council, at the University of British Columbia.

Wants World Tied To U.S. Dollar

PARIS (AP)—Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, in a speech Thursday urged a "Marshall Plan government" of the world, with foreign currencies and foreign security tied to the U.S. dollar and the U.S. army command.

DENNY'S OF VICTORIA

The word "Sale" almost vanished from the language during the war years—and after—it's place being usurped by such colorless terms as "Selling Event," "Value Days," and "Special Offers," etc., etc. But at last at The Standard we are ready to say and put into it all its old-time meaning—all its original emphasis—all its age-old attraction and allure. The "SALE" started today and in every department on our five floors there are plain honest-to-goodness "Bargains" that happy housewives will brag about for years to come. Not only discontinued lines that have been "Cut to the Bone" for immediate clearance but scores of special purchases (especially in drapes) for which our buyers have been scouring the markets for months past. And then, too, we are offering lots of items that have been "Out of This World" for years and are now making their appearance at the Standard "Sale." Come in then ladies and revel once again in the enchanting temptations of a real "Sale"—come in and enjoy being tempted even if you "haven't got any money." And anyway, one of the several "Standard" budget plans will exactly fit YOUR budget.

Home Economics Association Tea At Cherry Bank

Miss Joan Venini of Calgary, left, student at summer school, was among honored guests. Next to her is Mrs. T. W. A. Gray, a member of the Victoria association and convener of tea arrangements; Miss Yvonne Love and Miss Shirley Walker, president and vice-president of the Victoria Home Economics Association, both of whom welcomed guests.

Garden Library Closes Saturday Afternoon

Following a busy month for both children and mothers, the Children's Garden Library summer session will close on Saturday afternoon. Visitors will be welcomed from 3 until 4.30 to see a shortened program of a regular day's session. Afternoon tea will be served by the mothers' discussion group.

For a change, try cream-of-mushroom gravy with roast chicken. Scrape the brown from the roasting pan and add ½ cup of water to the chicken drippings. Pour in a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup and stir.

Friends Fete Mrs. Skayman Prior To Departure For East

Mrs. Joseph Skayman, who will leave the city Monday for an extended holiday in eastern Canada, where she will visit her sons and their families and other relatives in Montreal, Ottawa and Winchester, has been fete'd at a number of parties.

Mrs. E. P. Kirchen was an after-five party hostess in her sister's honor when guests included Mesdames R. Willmott, W. Kirchin, A. McMillan, A. Griffiths and J. Emery. Eight guests were present when Mrs. A. K. Griffiths entertained at cocktails, in Mrs. Skayman's honor.

The tea hour was chosen by Mrs. J. P. Emery, 868 Old Esquimaux Road, when she entertained in her aunt's honor. Mrs. A. J. McMillan presided at the tea table appointed with lace cloth and centrepiece of red and white carnations. Others attending were Mesdames E. P. Kirchen, H. Youson, S. Emery and Misses A. and C. Emery.

On Thursday Mrs. Skayman entertained at luncheon in Spencer's dining-room. Covers were laid for six.

Afternoon Tea Honors Future Daughter-In-Law

Mrs. C. M. Parrott was a tea hour hostess, Wednesday afternoon, at her home on Finlayson Avenue, to honor her future daughter-in-law, Miss Florence McMillan of Toronto, and her cousins Miss Rita McBurney, who has been chosen as a bridesmaid for the wedding and Mrs. L. Gould, both visitors from Toronto. Mrs. Herbert Jeune presided at the tea table, which was covered with a handmade lace cloth, centred with a bride's cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked with tiny vases of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Parrott's daughter, Miss Muriel Parrott, who will be the second bridesmaid, and her nieces, Miss Marjorie and Miss Beverley Noel, acted as servers. Mrs. Bert Noel gave vocal selections during the afternoon. There were 20 guests.

Married Quietly In Wales

Of special interest in Victoria is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Coton, Lyall Street, Esquimalt, of the marriage in Pontypridd, Wales, of their youngest daughter Marjorie to Mr. William J. Hawker. The former Miss Coton left the city in April, and was married in a quiet ceremony on July 2. She returned to Victoria Tuesday, via New York, and will spend two months here, saying farewell to friends and relatives, before leaving in October to rejoin her husband in Cardiff.

Mrs. G. Wilson, Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Allen, and Mrs. Isabel Irwin of Vancouver, were among guests attending the marriage of Miss Shirley Eileen Going and Robert Eldon Gordon, R.C.N.

The bride was given in marriage by her father-in-law, Clarence E. Hudson. Her gown was of traditional white satin fashioned with sheer yoke of net, fitted bodice and long, slim sleeves pointed over the wrists. A Queen Anne headdress held her full-length veil. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and mauve sweet peas, and she wore a small gold locket, gift of her groom.

Attending her sister as honor matron, Mrs. C. E. Hudson wore a cornflower blue frock and carried pink and white carnations and mauve sweet peas in her arm bouquet.

Summer gowns of blush pink and primrose yellow were worn by maids Miss Colleen Connor and Miss Marion Burns. Both carried colorful Colonial bouquets.

Clarence Nause, R.C.N., was best man and ushers were E. Halagroski, R.C.N., and A. Nishnik, R.C.N.

Friends and relatives extended best wishes to the newlyweds at a reception at Loughdeeds' Banquet Hall, where the bridal toast was given by Maurice Hallam. A three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, was set on the refreshment table.

Mrs. John Heard, Craigflower Road, the bride's mother, and the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon who arrived by plane from Lloydminster, Sask., received guests with the young couple.

Following their honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon will make their home in Victoria.

Langford Fete A Huge Success

A successful garden party, under the auspices of the Langford Parent-Teacher Association and pre-school group, was held Wednesday afternoon at 800 Island Highway.

Homemade candy was sold by Mrs. H. G. Goodman and the home cooking stall was directed by Mrs. R. J. Eveleigh. Bingo was in charge of Mrs. H. A. Hinks.

Afternoon tea was served on the lawn, at tables centred with sweetpeas. Mesdames C. Barwick, A. Turner, H. M. McKenzie and J. Braithwaite were in charge of tea arrangements.

Mrs. J. C. Nimmo, Mrs. H. C. Hughes, Misses Sheila Hinks and Patsy Hoffman presided at the urns. Readings were given by Mr. James Thomson and contest and tea tickets sold by Mrs. J. Hicks.

During the afternoon, a corsage bouquet was presented to Mrs. Edith Pritchard, who was in charge of the pre-school pupils at term.

Summer School Members Among Honored Guests

The Home Economics Association tea at Cherry Bank yesterday afternoon was given to honor members of the summer school staff and home economic students. Among the guests were Miss Ellen Olymyk, Winnipeg, and Miss Mary Breadon, Vancouver, second and third from the left. With them is Mrs. A. B. Young, left, immediate past president of the association and Miss Corine Leifer, Victoria.

Costumes Designate Wearer's Business At Luncheon

TORONTO (CY)—Fifteen baby chicks, 800 lobsters and a bee-keeper added up to an interesting buffet luncheon yesterday for 600 delegates to the American Federation of Soroptimists meeting in week-long convention here.

The lobsters, flown in for the occasion by Maritime hostesses, played a passive role while the chicks peeped their way to active popularity.

The businesswomen left no doubt about their divergent interest. They arrived in costumes representing every vocation from corsetiere to fishing tackle salesman.

Mrs. Lois Logan of Kennett Square, Pa., has hatched 1,000,000 chicks in her own hatchery since January, and brought along 15 healthy specimens to prove it. Less noisy portraits of others appeared on her hat, on her blouse, in button and earring style.

White overalls and a wire mesh veil hanging from a helmet hat was the costume chosen by Mrs. M. Louise Yates, a busy bee-keeper from Hartford, Conn. Emitting strong-scented smoke was a smudge she carried through the gathering to illustrate how she would deal with her 30 colonies of bees.

The only feminine member of the ready mix association, Jeanette Daley of Phoenix, Ariz., spent 400 hours working on her gown of glazed chintz appliqued with stain rollers, shovels and gravel-her.

Miss Daley raised 27 boys and three girls who were parolled under her protection from reform institutions. Now she has 19 "grandchildren," with seven of the girls named Jeanette after her.

Old Gems Regain Use In New Set

Precious or semi-precious stones need not languish in a jewelry box because settings are out-moded. The tiniest stone can be removed and used to enhance the sparkle of another, more up-to-date piece.

For ways to utilize stones to the best advantage, the Jewelry Industry Council comes up with some helpful suggestions.

Take the small diamond solitaire, for example, which has been retired because a larger stone has taken its place on your finger. Use the small diamond to centre a pretty pin or bracelet charm which has no sparkle.

If you can cull several small stones from an unused piece of jewelry, there are effective ways of utilizing their precious sparkle. Reset into the monogram of a compact or cigarette case, a few stones will give either accessory an expensive look.

Such stones, transferred from an old piece, may be massed for an impressive effect in a pendant, sunburst clip or brooch. A modern sunburst design with one modest stone in the centre can be made to look like a collector's item by a jewelry craftsman if small precious stones are used to radiate from the central sparkler.

Chill Cosmetics For Summer Use

The woman who can't bear the thought of putting on warm or goopy face creams during hot weather has a way out of her dilemma. She can keep her cosmetics in the ice box. In the frosty recesses of a refrigerator, runny face creams become as firm and cool as chilled butter. Chilled creams and lotions not only serve the purpose for which they are formulated, but are a blessed aid for cooling a perspiring skin and for making the user more comfortable.

The traveler can safeguard her luggage from damage caused by spilling or leaking cosmetics by sealing bottles and boxes shut with a strip of scotch tape.

Proper Make-Up Important For All Occasions

First, Virginia Mayo selects a becoming shade of lipstick and using a lipstick brush she shapes the line of her lips, then fills in the lips.

Miss Mayo mascaras the inner three-quarters of the eyelash lightly, then lifts the corner of the upper lid, applying mascara more heavily on the outer one-quarter for a more subtle effect.

Beautiful Virginia Mayo, who appears in Warner Bros. "Smart Girls Don't Talk," passes on instructions in make-up given to her by Perc Westmore, famed Hollywood make-up artist. One rule Westmore never forgets to give his pupils: "Lining should never be used around the eyes for street wear, nor should gobs of mascara. Both appear theatrical."

The Warner Bros. star believes in brushing her hair at least 200 strokes a day. She keeps her hair in a bob, softly curled around her expressive face.

A small mascara brush is used after slightly penciling in the eyebrow. This gives a smooth, natural finish and removes all traces of powder.

After application of mascara, a cotton swab dampened with skin freshener removes all traces of excess mascara and powder in the crevices of the eyelid and at the last line.

Child's Fears And Worries Should Be Taken Seriously

OTTAWA—Fear can harm a child and seriously warp his personality. For this reason parents should take their child's fears and worries thoughtfully and make every effort to relieve them. So advises the Department of National Health and Welfare in its latest publication on child training.

Of the many types of fear, some are brief and immediately forgotten—such as a loud noise or a scary Halloween mask. These need cause no concern, but others are lasting and injurious. Fear of authority may develop from a father who is too stern, fear of soiling from too rigid toilet training, fear of dirt from constant harsh scolding for getting dirty during play.

The list is a long one, but all these fears have one basic fact in common—"whatever seems to make you withdraw your love will worry your child because he loves and needs you so much."

MUST FEEL SAFE

The folder adds, "Your child can only feel safe in his strange, changing world if he always feels sure that despite his mistakes you will continue to love him. Such a feeling of security makes him more self-reliant and eager to do better."

Parents may avoid the growth of these dangerous fears in the child by being tolerant and friendly about his progress, or lack of it, in his eating, playing or keeping dry. "Praise him for his efforts, even if they are clumsy. If you make him feel a failure, he will be full of fears." When a child fears the dark, it is an indication of his need for parental comfort, love and reassurance. Too many scoldings, too many battles over toilet training and eating often lead to this feeling of insecurity on the child's part. Insecurity is also the cause for a four-year-old's fear of thunderstorms, snakes, cats and dogs.

FAMILY QUARRELS DISTURB

Family quarrels disturb children more deeply than most parents realize. "These quarrels can produce an uneasy fear in the child which may endure and become most damaging. He may not understand the bickerings and arguments, but he feels that something is wrong with the two people who mean the most in his world."

Fears in a child, it is stressed, will always show up in one way or another and "signposts of fear" are listed in the publication. The folder closes with a warning that "teaching a child that he is bad if he doesn't always behave and talk nicely is to give him a burden of guilt that is far too heavy and undeserved. For if he tries to bottle up all the mean words and feelings and never blows off steam, he is wounding his personality. And fear will follow when he feels that he is being a bad child because he has such thoughts and desires."

Copies of the pamphlet are available without cost through provincial departments of health.

Woman Who Raises Tigers In Zoo Nursery, Lover Of Animals

NEW YORK (AP)—A simple frame house across the street from the Bronx Zoo has changed hands. The former landlady was nervous because her tenant was raising simultaneously a tigress, a black leopard and two lion cubs.

"I bought the house and lot," says Mrs. Helen Martini, keeper of the zoo's animal nursery, "because she worried about the animals eating her grandchild while I was upstairs coaxing my little 'babies' to eat a bite of meat."

Mrs. Martini, only woman keeper in the largest zoo in the world, has quite a record.

Single-handed, she has raised four tigers, three lions and a leopard because the mothers were too ferocious to tend to that chore themselves. As a personal hobby she breeds and raises vampire bats, pack rats, ground squirrels and white-footed mice.

As a daily occupation she presides over a delicately tinted pink-and-blue nursery in the 300-lion house. Her charges include a new-born bambi (white-tailed deer), an addax (African antelope bred for the first time in captivity), a young orang-outang, a woolly monkey from South Africa and a cageful of tiny marmosets.

She weighs 100 pounds, "but when I worry as I did this spring when Dacca, one of the tigers I raised, had her first litter of four, I dropped to 85 pounds."

SAT UP FOR 24 HOURS

"The curator wouldn't let me in the cage. I sat next to it for 24 hours. Two cubs came in the morning, but the other two weren't born until afternoon. When it was all over Dacca took them out of the box and brought them over to me."

Mrs. Martini says she has never been hurt. "It's just a matter of getting them young," she says, "and treating them nice."

She disdains tricks as "unnatural." "This is no circus. If they do anything real bad, I give them a slap."

At 36, Mrs. Martini has dainty dimensions, diffident gestures, a decided manner and the hand-clasp of a cow puncher. Her husband is the keeper of the lion house. As a child in Newfound-

Dorothy Dix

POOR HUSBAND MATERIAL

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a man 55 years old. Have never had a girl. Never had a sister and have never really known any women except my mother. I live alone, and like it. Have a good job and money in the bank.

My friends are always telling me that I should get married, but why should I take on the responsibility of supporting a woman when I am perfectly happy as I am? I have never had any particular use for women anyway. What is your advice? A MAN.

Answer: I don't think you are good husband material, Mr. Man. I think you would be utterly miserable if you got married, and that you would make your wife wretched because you wouldn't have the faintest idea about how to treat her.

You see, women are strange animals, with queer habits and peculiarities, and you really have to be brought up among them in order to understand and be able to handle them. Otherwise you will be too much afraid of them and they will make a doormat of you. Or you won't be enough afraid of them, and they will get you before you scent any danger in the air. You won't know how to distinguish nerves from temper, or why they cry for joy, or why you have to persuade them into doing the thing that they have made up their minds all along to do.

I can't think of any creature in the world so helpless as the man who doesn't know anything about women trying to deal with a wife. What he recalls of his mother won't help him, because mothers are in a class by themselves. No other woman is as humble and adoring and self-sacrificing, as forgiving and as long-suffering toward a man as his mother. Besides her interests do not clash with his, as do a wife's, so Mother doesn't prepare her son for matrimony.

I think you have waited too long for matrimony and that you are better off as you are. Especially as you are worrying about the support of your wife. If you get married, you will have to open up your pocketbook.

Prairie Support For Gardiner As Liberal Leader

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatchewan Liberal Leader Walter Tucker said Thursday that he intended "to support Agriculture Minister Gardiner for nomination as national leader of the Liberal Party, and I believe he can count on almost unanimous support from this province."

Mr. Tucker was commenting on an article in the current issue of Maclean's magazine in which it was suggested that all was not well between provincial and federal Liberals and that Mr. Gardiner might not receive Saskatchewan's support for the nomination as successor to Prime Minister King.

No pressure of any kind would be brought on delegates from the west to support anyone but the person they believed best for province and Dominion, Mr. Tucker added.

He described all persons seeking the national leadership as "capable" and said the conference would have a difficult time choosing a new leader.

4 Victorians Get Music Awards

Among successful students awarded silver medals by the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto are four Victorians and one student from Nanaimo.

These medals are awarded annually in each province to students who obtain the highest marks in the practical examinations of their respective grades during the season.

Names of successful students follow: Piano, Mary Maclean, Victoria; Shirley Brunt, Nanaimo; Violin, Jacquelin Johnson, Ann Robertson and Marie Milburn, all of Victoria.

Forces Meet Saturday

B.C. executive of the Progressive Conservative Association will meet in Vancouver Saturday to consider arrangements for the selection of delegates to the national convention of the party in September at Ottawa.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P. for Nanaimo, will be among Vancouver Island representatives at the meeting.

The DOCTOR Says:

INHALATION IS NEW PENICILLIN TREATMENT

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Practically everyone knows that penicillin, while not a "miracle" drug, is extremely useful in certain kinds of infections. Penicillin is an extract of a common mold. It has the power of interfering with the growth and multiplication of certain germs both inside and outside the human body.

One of the most interesting uses to which penicillin has been put is against certain infections involving the breathing apparatus—the respiratory system. In some of these cases it has been given, not by the usual injection through a needle, but by putting it into solution and spraying it or by putting it in powder form and blowing it into the mouth and nose.

Inhaled penicillin is of doubtful or no value for tuberculosis, pneumonia, and some of the other infections of the lungs or breathing apparatus. It has been used successfully, however, in some patients with bronchitis caused by germs and infections.

It is of value for some victims of asthma. And favorable results have been reported from penicillin inhalations for certain patients with chronic sinus infections and abscesses of the lungs.

There is a condition also in which the bronchi, which are the breathing tubes leading into the lungs, become diseased and enlarged developing into a condition called bronchiectasis. In advanced cases of bronchiectasis, surgery has been a successful form of treatment.

MORE RESEARCH

Penicillin, however, in the form of a spray or possibly fine powder will prevent the disease from advancing in some cases. This may make surgery unnecessary, at least in some cases.

Work is still going on to perfect the methods of using penicillin solutions or powders by inhalation. There are now several ways of producing a fine spray which can be breathed down.

Also investigations are being conducted as to what conditions are best suited to this type of treatment. Many good results have already been recorded. However, it is still too soon to know definitely in advance which patients will be benefited by this type of treatment and which will not.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS SLID TO EDGE OF 600-FOOT PRECIPICE

The Canadian Rockies have steeper sides, on the average, than the American Rockies. This makes it very hard to climb them.

Those who climb the steep peaks are likely to rope themselves together, as mountain climbers do in Switzerland and elsewhere. The man who leads a group may use an ice-axe to catch hold of rock ledges as he goes upward, or to cut ice or rock so he can have a foothold.

Forty-nine years ago the first attempt was made to scale Mt. Assiniboine, which is almost 12,000 feet high. The men in the party were Wilcox, Bryant and Steele.

All went well until they reached a height of about 10,000 feet. Then a snowstorm started, and they decided to turn back.

Bryant and Steele were roped together, but Wilcox walked apart from them. While making his way down a steep field of ice, Steele slipped and went sliding ahead toward the brink of a precipice. After him he dragged Bryant.

Both men were now headed toward the precipice, and a drop of 600 feet. Steele saw one chance for life. A few yards ahead of him was a boulder. If he could catch hold of it, he might be able to halt the slide. The trouble was that the boulder was a little off the direct line of descent. He might miss it as he slid downward.

Thinking quickly, Steele swung his ice-axe in a way which helped him to swerve toward the boulder. Then he reached out his hands and grasped the big stone. Meanwhile Bryant was sliding down the slope. In a split second he went past his friend. Steele felt a jolt as the rope pulled on him, but he clung to the boulder with all his might, and both men were saved. Wilcox joined them a few moments later, and the three made the rest of the descent in safety.

The top of Mt. Assiniboine was first reached by Sir James Outram in 1901. Since that time, others have climbed this steep peak.

Few Veterans Refused Insurance

Applications of less than one-third of 1 per cent of veterans for veterans' insurance have been refused, S. H. Okell, assistant district administrator here, reports.

Reason for this, according to Mr. Okell, is the recent extension of the period of eligibility. Only 60 applications, previously rejected insurance on medical grounds, remain to be granted. Feb. 20, 1948, was formerly the date of expiration of the application period, but this has been extended to Feb. 20, 1951, or three years from the date of discharge, whichever is the later date.

Mr. Okell said applications now will be received except where medical opinion establishes without doubt a terminal condition exists or life expectancy is limited to a few months.

2,900 Veterans Visit Office In North

Figures on the activities of the Department of Veterans' Affairs in Victoria, released by S. H. Okell, assistant district administrator, reveal 2,900 veterans visited the offices in the Belmont Building from June 24 to July 23. One hundred and seventy-three cases were placed before the rehabilitation board, 317 veterans received benefits, including those unemployed, in vocational training, awaiting returns from an enterprise, suffering temporary incapacity, at university and enrolled in correspondence courses.

Mr. Okell reminded veterans that medical attention can be given without the authority of D.V.A. officials only in emergency cases. He warned all applicants, especially those at upland centres, to apply through D.V.A. offices, or direct to Dr.

F. E. Coy, assistant district medical officer.

Old Line Republican Dies In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Eli Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate during President Hoover's administration, died Thursday, aged 84. The colorful Hoosier served in Congress under eight Presidents, but was swept out of office by the Democratic landslide of 1932.

Fishing Boat Struck By U.S. Navy Torpedo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The small fishing boat Honey Bee was struck by a practice torpedo during U.S. Navy maneuvers 20 miles off San Diego Thursday. The three-man crew was rescued by another fishing craft before the Honey Bee became awash. A submarine salvage vessel took the damaged craft in tow and brought her to port.

Ottawa Announces Division Of Funds For Health Plans Among Nine Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government's new health grants to the provinces, from the $30,000,000 voted by Parliament at the last session, were announced today by Health Minister Paul Martin.

The grants, which Prime Minister King said in announcing the move are intended as a step towards a national health service, were worked out mainly on the basis of estimated 1947 populations.

They are topped by the $9,667,979 which Ontario will receive, with Quebec next at $8,985,035. British Columbia will get $2,529,153; Saskatchewan, $2,001,742; Alberta, $1,968,738; Manitoba, $1,805,965; Nova Scotia, $1,541,779; New Brunswick, $1,226,052, and Prince Edward Island, $293,857.

DIRECTOR NAMED

Thursday Mr. Martin announced the appointment of Dr. F. W. Jackson, Manitoba's deputy health minister, as head of the new program. He will occupy the post of Director of Health Insurance Studies, a title which health authorities said had been picked deliberately to emphasize that the present program is intended as a step in that direction.

Announcement of Dr. Jackson's appointment and the exact grants available to the provinces was a major step in organization of the program.

It is now open to provincial authorities to apply for the grants on the basis of specific projects and it was expected the first applications would be made in about a month.

The largest single type of grant is for hospital construction. Divided on a population basis, it makes $4,336,439 available to Ontario. Quebec will have $3,842,650; British Columbia, $1,080,745; Saskatchewan, $871,646; Alberta, $850,932; Manitoba, $769,151; Nova Scotia, $642,857; New Brunswick, $508,282, and Prince Edward Island, $93,308.

PROVINCES TO CONTRIBUTE

This is a "matching grant," available if the provinces put up at least as much money as the federal government. It will be paid for specific projects, not in a lump sum. To qualify for it, hospital construction must have begun on or after April 1, 1948. The cancer grants also must be matched.

The restriction—that new projects must be undertaken—applies to the other grants.

The hospital grant will be paid on the basis of $1,000 for each new bed for acute cases and $1,500 for new beds for chronic cases. The amount paid from federal funds is not to exceed one-third of the total cost.

In the case of hospitals or additions to them started before April 1, the grant can be obtained for construction done after that date.

The second largest grant is for mental health—$4,000,000 rising to $7,000,000 a year over a period of years. There will be a flat $25,000 grant to each province and the rest divided on basis of populations.

CANCER CONTROL

The government has allocated $3,500,000 for cancer control, again to be distributed for specific projects.

The grant will be divided on a straight population basis and Ontario will have available $1,167,503. Quebec's share will be $1,034,560; British Columbia, $290,970; Saskatchewan, $234,671; Alberta, $229,097; Manitoba, $207,079; Nova Scotia, $173,077; New Brunswick, $136,845, and Prince Edward Island, $26,198.

The tuberculosis control grant totals $3,000,000 this year and rises over a period of years to $4,000,000. Each province will get a flat $25,000. Half of the remainder will then be divided on a population basis. The other half will be split up on the basis of the number of tuberculosis deaths, including those of Indians, in each province during the five-year 1942-46 period.

The government allocated $500,000 each for programs to aid crippled children and to further professional training of public health workers. Both grants will be divided on the basis of a flat $4,000 to each province, with the rest broken up by populations. To strengthen general public

PILE TORTURE

When you remove the cause of any trouble, a great amount of work is done. That is why PILETONE is so successful in those formerly hopeless cases. Thousands have found one bottle to be sufficient. Mr. G. Blake, Edmonton, reports a slight return after 18 months but a few doses cleared it up again. These are the results the new PILETONE TREATMENT is getting everywhere. You get results with first bottle or money refunded at once. $1.75 at all druggists.

Asks City Officials To Air Convention

Burges J. Gadsden, Victoria representative on the B.C. Aviation Council, today urged members of the City Council to make every effort to attend the 1948 convention of the Northwest Aviation Planning Council to be held in Vancouver Sept. 19-21.

Mr. Gadsden noted the B.C. Aviation Council had arranged its convention in connection with the larger council's convention, but the B.C. organization would hold its business meeting Sept. 22. "This combined convention will provide a splendid opportunity of gaining information and knowledge of importance to the representatives of the people and I earnestly suggest that as many of your council attend as can arrange to do so," Mr. Gadsden wrote to Mayor Percy George.

One Of Best Catches At Inlet

Frank Clarkson can afford to give out with a big grin over his handsome catch of spring salmon he and Gill Anderson reeled out of Misery Bay waters, Saanich Inlet, this week. One of catch is missing. Weights ranged from 9 to 16 pounds. Lucky Louie plugs, 300 feet of wire line and planers did the trick. It is one of the best catches of the year.

Rochon Flashes Form In One-Sided Victory

TORONTO (CP)—With two Canadians among the four players in the semifinals, there is a 50-50 chance that a native son will capture the Canadian men's singles tennis championship.

Henri Rochon of Montreal eliminated the last foreign invader from the top half of the draw yesterday when he trounced Lin Baldwin of Yale quarterfinal match.

The Canadian Davis Cup player today meets Jean Paul Turgeon of Quebec City in a semifinal tilt that guarantees the presence of a Canadian in the finals.

The other semifinal match provides the foreign contingent with a chance of capturing the crown. Rene Buser, former Swiss Davis Cupper, now playing out of Montreal, meets Bill Tully of Notre Dame University.

Jim Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., did not defend the championship he won last year in Vancouver.

Rochon, who lost only four of the 58 games he has played in the tourney, upheld his first place seeding with a beautiful display of tennis yesterday. His shots were so accurate that he committed only six errors and one double fault service in trimming the eighth-seeded Baldwin. Lorne Main of Vancouver today is scheduled to meet Ray Page of Montreal for the Canadian junior championship. Main is a strong favorite to defend the title he has won for the last two years.

Main defeated Don Platt of Toronto, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, while Page outplayed Ham Quain of Ottawa, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1, in the semifinals. Quain had victory within his grasp but twice lost match point in the fourth set.

The Canadian women's singles titleholder will be a Canadian, for two semifinalists are from Quebec and two from Ontario. Top-seeded Elaine Fildes of Montreal today is slated to meet June Merrill of Toronto and second-seeded Pat Macken of Montreal is due to play Jean Burritt of Toronto.

Del Owens In Third Straight Victory

A's Stay Close As League-Leading Jackets Win; Palmer, Morgan Homer

Victoria Athletics stayed right with the pace of the leaders in the W.L.L. pennant scramble last night as Del Owens tossed his third straight victory and his 10th of the year in trimming the Wenatchee Chiefs, 8 to 1, at Wenatchee.

The league-leading Bremerton Bluejackets had their first-place margin cut to one and one-half games as the runner-up Tacoma Tigers took a pair from Yakima while the Jackets were clipping Salem with a late-game rally. Tacoma's margin over the A's is now two games.

The Chiefs got to Owens for their lone run in the first-inning ending a 16-inning scoreless skunk for the fast-balling righthander.

Who had hurled two shutouts in his previous outs. But Owens bounced right back with an eight-inning row of goose-eggs and is away on another scoreless streak.

Victoria won the game with a five-run rally in the second off left-hander Dick Conover. Dick Morgan slammed his second-round tripper of the season over the left-field fence to start the outbreak and tie the score. With two men on base, Vic Buccola then unloaded a screaming double for two more runs. Jack Palmer settled the matter with his 13th home run of the year scoring Buccola ahead of him.

GOOD CONTROL

Stan Gilson replaced Conover for the Chiefs and pitched good ball although giving up single runs in the sixth, eighth and ninth innings. Owens struck out seven and did not give up any bases on balls.

'New Deal' Outlined For Canadian Football

The decline of Canadian football as one of the major sports of the city during the past two years is at an end.

This fact was revealed last night when the Victoria Canadian Football Company Inc.—hereafter referred to as the Victoria Cougars Canadian football team—announced its list of directors and slate of officers at a smoker in the Douglas Hotel.

The Cougars in an effort to put the game back on the map have secured the backing, financial and otherwise, to make the sport a success. The list of sports-minded businessmen behind the move reads like a list of who's who in the city.

Dr. John Sturdy is president of the company. Des Grubb is secretary and Ralph Petersen, treasurer. List of stockholders and provisional directors includes Harry Gladwell, George Straith, Jim Neely, Vic Clarke, Reg Hayward Jr., Barney Olson, George Yardley, Brent Murdoch, Jack Lawrie and Mike Rynowski.

LOTS OF ENTHUSIASM

One of the main points stressed by the group is that the sport is going to be handled in a business-like fashion. There will be no haphazard moves. Definite schedules will be arranged and carried out. The team will be drilled in every fundamental of the game. In this respect it will be noted that at least 20 followers of the sport have without publicity been carrying out practice sessions all during the summer under coach Lou Mogul.

This fact alone is a far cry from the manner in which the game was conducted during the past two years when it was like pulling teeth to get a full turnout at any scheduled workout.

Mogul, coach of the Cougars, and a man who could still play for any team in Canada, believes that there is a definite future for the sport in the city. Mogul would like to see a number of younger players, with or without previous experience, come out to the practice sessions and receive a thorough grounding in the sport. "Every place on the team is wide open," he said. "There is absolutely no reason for any youngster to believe that he isn't good enough to make the squad."

Athletic Park will be secured for home games. The definite number has not been set as the schedule has not been drawn up but the total is expected to be seven. Arc light tilts will be included in the list.

Meanwhile, practices will take place nightly Monday through Friday at Heywood Ave. grounds.

Foul Bay Moves Up With Lacrosse Win

Foul Bay stickmen continued their steady climb in the boxla league standings with a 7 to 3 win over Tillicums in a low-scoring affair at Stevenson Park last night.

From the opening whistle, both netminders, Long of Tillicums and Thompson of Foul Bay, were on their game and showed little regard for opposing snipers. With only 20 seconds left in the first quarter, Ed Popham of Tillicums bagged the first goal of the game. A quick reply, 10 seconds later, by Foul Bay's Wilf Scott made it 1 to 1 at the quarter.

Popham scored again midway through the second frame to give the clubmen a 2 to 1 lead. A nice backhand shovel shot by Jackie Thompson pulled the district crew up on even terms again just before the rest session.

BAYS GAIN LEAD

Young Gordie Bamford, playing an improved brand of lacrosse lately, got the yellow-

Stewart Extended To Three Sets In Vancouver Tennis

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., Thursday was forced to go all out before he turned back the challenge of Don Lowenbein in a singles contest of the western Canada grass courts tennis championship.

Top-seeded Stewart won his fourth-round test 6-8, 6-1, 9-7 after trailing 3-5 in the extra-set match. In women's singles favored Beverly Baker of Santa Monica won handily in straight sets from Pat Zellmer of San Diego, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Zellmer also was eliminated from the junior women's singles going down 6-4, 6-3 to B. Springer of Vancouver. In junior men's singles B. Price of Oakland defeated G. Gray of Tacoma 6-3, 6-2; P. Willey of Vancouver won from J. Deupriest, Tacoma, 6-0, 7-5; J. Rickson, San Francisco, defeated D. Jacobus, San Francisco, 6-1, 8-6 and D. Christensen of Seattle defeated H. Ditzler of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-1.

Highland Games Set For Macdonald Park

The Highland Games, one of the features of the summer sports scene, will take place at Macdonald Park tomorrow.

The track and field program of the games will get under way at 2.15, with an outstanding list of youthful stars entered in the complete list of events.

Sprint dashes, distance races, hurdles, weight events, pole vault and relay races are included for the track and field competitors.

Congdon Uncorks Brilliant 66 For B.C. Golf Lead

VANCOUVER (CP)—A sizzling five-under-par 66 Thursday gave Tacoma's Chuck Congdon a one-stroke lead over defending champion Stan Leonard of Vancouver in the first 18 of the 72-hole British Columbia Open golf tournament.

The Marine Drive pro was runner-up in the field of 102 competitors with a 67.

Walt McAlpine of Vancouver toured the Quilchena course with a 69, while Fred Bolton of Pendleton, Ore., shot a one-under-par 70 in the medal competition.

Other scores included: Malcolm Tapp, Quilchena, and G. Wood, Seattle amateur, with 71's; Percy Clogg, Vancouver; Bob Foulis, Vancouver, and Ken Tucker, Everett, Wash., 72's; John Rudy, Tacoma pro; Ernie Tate, Vancouver, and D. Killan, Olympia, Wash., 73's.

Next in line were Bennie Colk, Vancouver; Ernie Brown, Vancouver, and Ted Neist, Walla Walla, with 74's, and Monty Hill and Jim Robertson, both of Vancouver, with 75's.

Vancouver's Bill Mawhinney, Canadian junior golf champ, wound up with a 76.

Eighteen holes were to be played today and the top 60 finishers will be eligible for the final 36-hole play tomorrow.

Canadian Youth Wins 13 Straight In Pro Ball Debut

PONCA CITY, Okla. (CP)—Joe Tuffeland of Lethbridge, Alta., hasn't lost a game for the Ponca City's entry in the class D Kansas-Oklahoma-Texas League so far this year.

And the freshman, playing his first year as a professional, undefeated in 13 straight games, has his eye on the Brooklyn Dodgers pitching staff.

The Canadian right-hander was chosen at the Dodgers' first farm summer school in western Canada held in Edmonton in 1947.

Howard Haak, Pacific coast area scout and former catcher, chose him and earmarked him for the Ponca team.

He started his streak May 5 against Bartlesville in the third inning as a reliever. He won the game with a 10 to 9 decision. He struck out five and gave up only two hits in the six innings.

His 13th victim was the Bartlesville club which lost Wednesday night, 6 to 4.

Hurling one two-hitter, a pair of three-hitters and a four and a five-hitter between the two games he defeated every other team in the club-champ circuit.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Earle Henderson, 52, prominent businessman and golfer, died in hospital here Wednesday. He was a director and past president of Marine Drive Golf Club.

Buccola and Babe Jensen each added a pair of blows.

Tonight the A's again meet the Chiefs with Len Kasperovitch almost a cinch to get the hill assignment.

Bremerton's victory over Salem was highlighted by a five-run outbreak in the eighth inning after two men were out. Held to three hits going into the eighth, the Jackets went ahead on singles by Samcoff, Maul and Volpi and triples by Ronning and Stanford.

Tacoma's twin victory over Yakima came by scores of 5 to 4 and 16 to 3. Vito DeVito's three-run double in the sixth inning gave Tacoma the opening game win. The Tigers tucked away the second game early, six tallies in two innings driving Yakima's Garth Ford from the mound. The Tigers scored eight runs in the eighth to help rub it in.

Vancouver Caplanos moved ahead of the Spokane Indians and back into the first division by blanking the Indians, 3 to 0, at Vancouver. Southpaw Carl Gunnarson did the trick limiting the visitors to seven scattered blows.

Short scores follow:

First Game—	R	H	E
Yakima	4	11	1
Tacoma	7	15	2
Kittie and Constantino; Greenlaw, Gleason (2), Clary (6) and Rossi.
Second—	R	H	E

Giants' Hurlers Take New Lease On Life

What has happened to New York Giants' pitching staff?

Seven complete games in eight pitching starts have lifted the club past St. Louis Cardinals into third place in the National League. The hurlers throw shutouts like honest-to-goodness pitchers and not the humpty-dumpty throwers they are supposed to be.

Dave Koslo, particularly, has come into his own in recent days. Two straight no-run jobs, including yesterday's 5 to 0 effort against Cincinnati, stamp him as a most important factor in the club's pennant hopes. That second blanking gave the club its third straight shutout.

Walker Cooper yesterday eased Koslo's task with a bases-loaded homer in the first after the Giants already had scored one off Ken Raffensberger.

Brooklyn clubbed the Cardinals 9 to 6, permitting New York to take over third place. Neither club gained on the leading Boston Braves, who edged Pittsburgh 2 to 1. The Braves' lead remains intact at 5½ games.

HOMERS WRECK CARDS

The Dodgers used the home run to cudgel the Cards Murry Dickson into his 10th loss. Roy Campanella clouted his fifth of the year with two on in the first inning. After St. Louis tied the

Egypt Wins First Protest At Olympics

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley (AP)—Egypt filed the first official protest of the Olympic Games today—and its claim was allowed.

The Egyptians protested against the officiating in last night's water polo game in which Hungary defeated Egypt, 4 to 2.

The game will be replayed to night with new officials.

The particular objection to the officiating was not disclosed. Australia lost out in the first round, 9 to 0, to Italy, but the game was played under protest. Australia complained about the method used to mark off the playing area.

Argentina defeated Greece, 6 to 2, and India defeated Chile, 7 to 4.

Hollywood Turns Back Oakland To Tie With Seattle

If there's one Coast League club that can beat Oakland at the slugging game, it's Hollywood.

The Stars, in fact, did it a third straight time last night—9 to 1. With a 14-hit blast the movie town lads handed the faltering Oaks their seventh loss in eight starts.

Hollywood, generally short on the pitching side, got a six-hit job from big Pinky Woods. Meanwhile, everyone in the line-up except Woods and Don Ross bagged two hits apiece. Lou Stringer, the Stars sparkplug, drove in four runs with a pair of doubles.

The game brought about two ties in the standings. Oakland was forced to share second place with Los Angeles, which whipped San Francisco, 4 to 1.

Hollywood moved up even with Seattle in fifth position as the Rainiers lost to Portland, 6 to 0.

Old Tommy Bridges, the little man with the big curve, never had it working better than last night. The veteran pitched Portland to an easy victory, checking Seattle with three hits, all singles, and striking out 10. He pitched hitless ball for five innings.

Langford Nine Wins Men's Senior B Softball Title

Langford Athletics won the men's senior B softball championship of the city last night by defeating Black and White Taxi, 4 to 2, in 10 innings. It was the second straight win for the suburban nine which won the league title in its first year in the Victoria loop.

It was a tough defeat for Pat Smith of the Black and White nine. Smith hurled scoreless ball until the eighth inning but some loose fielding by his mates in the eighth enabled Langford to score two runs and tie the score.

Langford won the game in the 10th on two singles and an error. Roy Skinner was winning pitcher. He allowed four hits.

Goblin Cafe took a one-game lead in the junior girls' semifinal playoff by defeating Sidney Merchants, 8 to 6.

New Method moved into the finals of the women's senior B playoffs with a default victory over Langford. New Method won the opening game of the series.

In the men's senior C playoffs, Canadian Scottish came from behind to edge Warner's C.Y.O., 5 to 3, and tie the series at one game apiece.

Old Jack Fox Will Fight In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Aging Tiger Jack Fox of Spokane, Wash., who has been denied a new license to fight in his own state, is coming here to continue his ring wars on Aug. 9.

Promoter Ernie Stolen announced that Fox will meet Frank Thomas, an Eskimo heavyweight who has been fighting in New York. Thomas fought here July 4, knocking out Bob Reidel, a heavyweight from the U.S. army. The ringwise Fox didn't even know who his opponent was when signing for the fight.

But that was of little concern to Tiger Jack. "Boxing's just about all I know," he said.

No Pot Of Gold On Alaska Highway But It's Great Trip

WASHINGTON (Special)—The average motorist, with car in good condition and a taste for adventure off the beaten path, will find a trip over the Alaska Highway a memorable experience and he will not encounter too many difficulties in the matter of getting service and accommodations.

This was the gist of a report issued today by the American Automobile Association following completion of the first official inspection trip of the route by an A.A.A. field car.

"Accommodations along the way are by no means the type to which the average U.S. traveler is accustomed," points out F. C. Durkin, A.A.A. field reporter who made the trip. "However, by careful planning, the motorist can make his trip in stages that will bring him each night to points where the better run of establishments is available. Accommodations at such places are quite limited and it is highly important to phone ahead each day to make sure of space for the night."

WATCH OUT FOR DUST

Other tips for the prospective Alaska traveler offered by the A.A.A. reporter included:

1. In addition to having the car in first-class condition, carry along a good jack and two spare tires mounted on the wheels. Driving over gravel stretches on a hot day, it's a good idea to stop every couple of hours to let the tires cool.

2. In summer, the road is dusty, which can be annoying when you have to follow the car ahead for some distance. Paved-road drivers should take it quite slowly until they get used to the feel of gravel under the wheels and behavior of the car on turns. Passing a car trailing a cloud of dust can be very dangerous and has caused many serious accidents along the highway; wait until you can make sure that there's no car coming the other way and that the road ahead is straight.

3. Wear old clothes, preferably lightweight coveralls on the journey. Don't carry parkas or heavy wool clothes; many people arrived dressed for a Polar jaunt to discover Alaska summers much like those in the U.S. Also leave behind your evening clothes; people in Alaska don't go in for "dressing up."

Take some light clothing with a woolen shirt or two or perhaps a sweater or sport jacket; women should take a light spring topcoat mainly for evening.

TAKES NEW POST—George S. Elliott, son of Deap Spencer H. Elliott, who has joined the engineering staff of the Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Ltd. of Vancouver, and will shortly take up duties at Kimberley, B.C., in connection with townsite extension there. He was formerly bridge inspector for Canadian National Railways, Western Region.

PLENTY OF MOSQUITOES

4. Mosquitoes are encountered all along the highway; take along repellents and an aerosol bomb to spray the car in the morning, during the day and the room you stay in at night.

5. It may be a good idea to carry along some canned or prepared food but it's not really necessary. Food can be purchased at all stopping points. A small supply of apples, oranges, bananas or the like will be found welcome on the hot dusty portions of the trip.

6. The journey from Great Falls, Mont., to Fairbanks is 2,509 miles in length, mostly on gravel, so this is no trip for a hurried vacationist. Thirty days would be a minimum for the round trip. Minimum cost for two persons in one car would be $800.

NOT POT OF GOLD

"Most of the people traveling the highway today are job-seekers who are disappointed when they don't find a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," says Mr. Durkin. "But the bona fide tourists, with money and time at their disposal, are rather pleased with having accomplished the last really big motoring adventure on this continent. The Alaskans themselves tell you: 'If you want the comforts of home, stay home!'—but if you're willing to swap dust, mosquitoes and frontier-type accommodations for a journey to new horizons, there's no better bet than the Alaska Highway."

Preliminary Murder Hearing Adjourned To Hear Further Prosecution Witness

Preliminary hearing of Jacob E. Wied, Ukrainian-born Victorian, charged with murder in the knife-stabbing of his wife, Evelyn, in their 1025 Yates Street room July 17, was adjourned uncompleted today by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

The hearing will continue Saturday morning to hear testimony of Frank Humble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Humble, suite 2 of the same apartment house. He was visiting his parents with his wife and two sons on the evening of the stabbing.

C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, today called Mrs. Jacqueline Humble to the witness box, after Detective Alex Briggs had quoted a conversation he had had with the accused pertaining to the knife wound suffered by Mrs. Wied.

"Det. Briggs said Wied told him he had gone upstairs to use the bathroom and was on the way downstairs again when he heard his wife scream."

When Wied rushed into the room his wife was lying on the sofa, said she had been hurt and asked him to telephone for a doctor, Det. Briggs quoted Wied as saying.

Mrs. Humble, a surprise witness, said she, her husband and their sons, Phillip and Michael, were visiting with the elder Humbles during the afternoon of July 17.

MET NO ONE

"My elder boy, 4 years old, left the room to go upstairs to the bathroom. He was gone about five minutes when I heard a scream. I ran upstairs and found he was alone there," Mrs. Humble said.

Queried by Mr. Harrison if she had met anyone on the stairs, witness said she had not. She said the time was between 5.30 and 6.

Mrs. Humble said when she got to the bottom stair she realized the scream had not come from upstairs.

She told of hearing a noise like a very heavy man's working coat brushing against the inside of the Wied room door and a sound like a latch clicking.

Asked if she had heard anything from the Wied room prior to the scream, Mrs. Humble testified there were sounds of a violent struggle which had been going on for 20 minutes.

Asked how many screams she heard, Mrs. Humble said she could not tell how many.

"They were so piercing and horrible and sounded like one continuous scream, which rang in my ears," she reported.

Under cross-examination by Patrick J. Sinnott, defence counsel, Mrs. Humble said she and her husband and the children went home after that.

Detective Briggs told of being called to the boarding house at about 7 on the night in question.

ROOM IN TURMOIL

He described a scene of "turmoil" in the Wied room and finding Jacob Wied sitting in a chair by the kitchen table.

"I asked him what had happened and he told me he did not know," the detective said. He then asked the husband to start from the beginning, and accused had done so.

Detective Briggs said he told of the drinking party at the Tillamook Club, and said that while he walked home his wife had taken a taxi and was lying on the sofa when he arrived.

Wied told the detective he started to get supper.

Then, Detective Briggs said, accused told him about going up to the bathroom and the scream he heard while coming down.

Wied told the plainclothesman he went to the phone in the hall to comply with his wife's request to call a doctor.

He had got "some silly girl" on information "who asked a lot of silly questions" and he finally had hung up, Detective Briggs said, relating what Wied told him.

Wied said he telephoned city police after this, witness said.

Continuing his questioning, witness said Wied told him "I think my wife must have fallen on a knife."

Witness said Const. Aldon Appleton, first officer on the scene, referred him to a carving knife on the floor, partially covered by a shirt with blood stains on it.

"The knife looked like it had been wiped off," Det. Briggs said. Wied said he did not know how the knife got there.

CHANGED SHIRT

Wied had got blood on his shirt trying to help his wife, he told the detective. He had changed it for a clean one to meet the police he had summoned.

Witness said there were no fingerprints on the knife blade. The coarse wooden handle, he added, would not hold prints.

"When he asked to go to the hospital to see his wife, I asked him to stay there and that we would let him know how things were with her," witness said. "The reason why we did not wish him to go to the hospital was because of the effect the liquor he had been drinking had on him," witness added.

In reply to Mr. Sinnott's question, he said accused had had a

Transit Companies' Revenue $304,826 For Three Months

Total gross fare revenue earned by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. and Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd., on the Greater Victoria transportation system for the three months ended June 30 was $304,826, it was reported today.

The statement of earnings and miles traveled was received by City Clerk M. F. Hunter from E. Harrison, financial officer, Vancouver Island, for the B.C.E.R.

Of the total gross fare revenue, $229,828 was earned by the B.C.E.R. and $74,998 by V.I.C.L.

Total gross fare revenue earned in the city alone was $210,892, of which $166,828 was earned by the B.C.E.R., and $44,064 was earned by V.I.C.L.

Gross fare revenue earned in the city alone by buses was $178,538, of which $134,474 was earned by the B.C.E.R., and $44,064 by V.I.C.L.

Gross fare revenue earned in the city by streetcars was $32,354. A cheque for $6,327—the 3 per cent tax on gross fare revenue earned in the city—was enclosed with the statement. The B.C.E.R. share was $5,065, and the V.I.C.L. share $1,262.

Total vehicle miles traveled on the Greater Victoria system was 1,015,132, of which 768,625 was traveled by the B.C.E.R., and 246,507 by V.I.C.L.

In the city alone, the two companies traveled a total of 683,078 miles, of which 536,839 was traveled by the B.C.E.R., and 146,239 by V.I.C.L.

The thief who robbed the cash register of McLeod's Service Station, 927 Douglas Street, at 4 Thursday afternoon while the owner was in the car yard, escaped with $97, city police report. Report to police was that no one was seen to enter the office or loitering.

5 Permits Issued

Five permits for construction worth a total of $9,350 were issued by the city building inspector's office this morning.

One permit was issued to H. R. Ponsford for construction of a $7,000, five-room house at 2731 Higgins Street. A second was for $1,000 repairs to two houses at 713 and 717 Pembroke Street, and a third was for a $1,000 alteration to a service station on Blanshard Street. Two other minor permits were for work to cost a total of $350.

Scholarship Winner

The Department of Education announced today the name of Gordon Wesley Young, 525 Northcott Avenue, a student of Victoria High School, was omitted in the original report on university entrance scholarship winners.

Mr. Young tied with Maureen Ann Cromie, also a pupil of Victoria High School, as winner of the Area 12 scholarship.

Both students obtained averages of 94 per cent.

Girl Beaten, Dragged By Hair Charge Against Hindu In Court

A crowded Saanich courtroom Thursday afternoon heard from the lips of a 20-year-old white girl how she had suffered an alleged brutal beating at the hands of an East Indian male at his 728 Cloverdale Avenue house on the night of July 12.

She was Sylvia Day, 3145 Quadra Street, testifying in the preliminary inquiry into the charge against Bisa Singh, 40, for assaulting and beating her and occasioning her actual bodily harm.

While C. L. Harrison, Saanich prosecutor, concluded the prosecution case, Magistrate H. C. Hall would not grant Joseph McKenna the length of adjournment he desired. Mr. McKenna asked for a remand until Aug. 19 in order to arrange bail. The magistrate granted a remand until Saturday morning at 9.30.

GIRL TELLS HER STORY

Miss Day told a story of meeting Kane, Cooper and Bisa in accused's wood truck after she had finished work that afternoon. The wood was delivered and they went to Bisa's home, where drinks were served. Witness said she only had a bottle of beer the entire evening.

Kane and Cooper went out to get some fish and chips and returned to the house with four girls.

Miss Day said later she went into the bathroom to clean up to go away with the visiting group. While she was there the others left.

Returning to the parlor, she said, accused, who had been drinking heavily, told her the others would be back in two minutes.

Witness testified that when there was a summons at the door, Bisa sent the person away. She saw through the window it was another Hindu.

Miss Day said she asked to use the telephone to get a cab to go home.

Witness said defendant said "no."

"BEAT ME CONTINUALLY"

Miss Day said accused then slapped her face.

"He then beat me about the back of the head and face continually," Miss Day said.

She told of an unsuccessful attempt to reach a nearby candlestick to use as a weapon because the Hindu kept beating her.

"I ran to the window, broke it and tried to get out. He came and dragged me back by the hair across the floor," she said.

Miss Day exhibited scars to show Mr. McKenna her fingers had been cut. She was not sure how they came there. Witness said she also suffered a bleeding nose and attributed this to the blows at the back of the head.

NEIGHBOR HEARD SCREAMS

C. E. Kilvington, 741 Cloverdale Avenue, said at 10.30 on the night in question he heard screaming and the noise of breaking glass.

"The screaming became more intense and when I went out to investigate I saw a girl with her head through a broken window in the Hindu's home screaming 'get me out of here... call the police!'"

Saanich police officers, including Sgt. Jack Hamilton, Constable Robert Coleman, special constables Douglas Park and J. Dentith and poundman Gerry Shepherd told their stories of the occurrences after arrival and seeing the screaming girl inside the house with blood-smeared face and hands.

Sgt. Hamilton said a panel was knocked out of a door to gain entry to the house, the interior of which they found in a state of disorder—broken windows, blood-smeared floors, disarranged furniture and other things.

Sgt. Hamilton said he found the girl in a semi-conscious state. He ordered her removal to hospital.

The sergeant told of a search made of the house to find Bisa. Bathroom door panel was finally knocked out and the Hindu was found behind the locked door. The door-breaking was done, the officer said, when there was no reply to his repeated question: "Is there anyone in there?"

The Saanich police senior officer said he read the warning to Bisa Singh and noted accused appeared to be under the influence of liquor.

At that time, Sgt. Hamilton testified, the Hindu told him somebody else had brought the girl to the house. Accused blamed the girl for the house damage and shouting and yelling. He told the sergeant he had tried to quieten her.

Bisa Singh further said, the sergeant continued, that the group in the house was getting rowdy and that when they did not leave after being asked, he had ordered them out.

Earlscourt Farms Sweep Prize Board

REGINA (CP)—In stiff competition, Court Lionheart 10th, from the Earlscourt Farms at Lytton, B.C., Thursday was named Grand Champion bull in Herefords as livestock judging finished at Regina's Summer Fair.

The prize animal beat out a second entrant from the Earlscourt Farms, Court Royal Domino Jr. 10th, named Reserve Grand and Reserve Senior, and T. H. Regal Mixer 13th, from the farm of R. J. McClement, Hayfield, Man.

The Earlscourt Farms also had the Junior Champion and the Reserve Junior Champion.

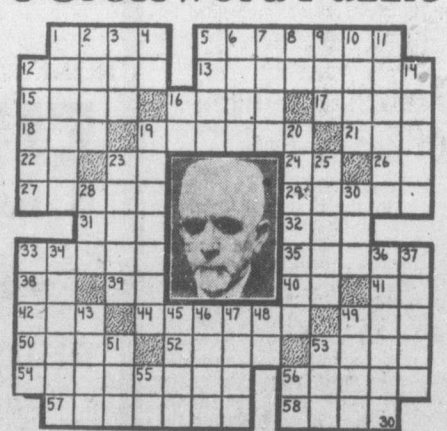

It was the same in the females, where the farm took junior championships and Reserve Senior.

The Senior Championship and Reserve Grand went to Mrs. I. Rigaux of the G. R. Bar Hereford Ranch of Pincher Creek, Alberta.

Interior B.C. To Have Plywood Plant

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plywood manufacture will soon be added to the list of interior British Columbia's major industries, the Western Plywood Co. Ltd. president John G. Bene announced Thursday.

The announcement followed granting to the company of a forest management license for timber tracts near Quesnel, about 260 air miles north of Vancouver.

Mr. Bene said work on the interior mill will start at once. The mill will employ 100 men, and will be equipped to handle 25,000 feet of logs daily.

B.C.'s Population Has Increased 27% in Six Years

British Columbia is Canada's fastest growing province. The population increase during the six-year period from 1941 to 1947 was 27%. This, of course, is another reason why it's been so hard for us to give telephone service to everyone wanting it. The record population growth has created a record demand, and we are still badly handicapped by shortages of equipment and material.

Farmers Protest Freight Increase

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—The directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said Thursday night any further application for increased freight rates should be dismissed until Ottawa has given "fair and just consideration" to the request for a Royal Commission investigation.

The directors said freight rates were a "glaring example of the increases which alarm us." Such increases might lead to higher food costs.

"Any further delay by the federal government in acceding to the request (for a Royal Commission) by seven provinces would appear to us to be not only discourteous but also very arbitrary and unsportsmanlike," they said.

Mayor George Asked To Take Part In Navy Week Parade

Mayor Percy George and Mrs. George today were formally invited to take part in Navy Week ceremonies to be held here Aug. 8 to 14.

The invitation, issued by Cmdr. R. A. Webber, R.C.N., chief of staff to Rear-Admiral E. R. Malinguy, R.C.N., Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, requested the presence of Mayor and Mrs. George at the saluting base during the parade through Victoria Aug. 9.

The parade, with a strength of approximately 500 officers and men, will consist of detachments from H.M.S. Sheffield and H.M.C. ships Naden, Ontario, Cayuga, Athabasca, Crescent and Antigonish, as well as the Royal Marine Band from Sheffield and the Royal Canadian Navy Band from Naden.

The saluting base will be in a position immediately in line with the front entrance of the Empress Hotel and on the east side of Government Street.

Lieutenant Governor Charles A. Banks has been requested to take the salute of the parade.

The Commander in Chief, America and West Indies Station, Vice-Admiral Sir William Tennant, K.C.B., C.B.E., M.V.O., and Admiral Malinguy, will also be present at the saluting base.

The parade will form up on Belleville Street and step off at 10:30 in the morning, passing the saluting base at approximately 10:35.

ROYAL THEATRE

"B. F.'s Daughter," John P. Marquand's arresting story of a predatory female, which headed the best-seller lists for a long period, has been brought to the screen with facility, intelligence and taste, and with distinguished acting portrayals on the part of Barbara Stanwyck in the title role, Van Heflin, Charles Coburn, Richard Hart and Keenan Wynn. The new M-G-M picture started today at the Royal Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Two of Hollywood's loveliest stars—Veronica Lake and Joan Caulfield—are teamed with film-dom's most beloved actor—Barry Fitzgerald—in Paramount's romantic comedy, "The 'Sainted' Sisters," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

The girls portray the title roles, a couple of charming but unsaintly ladies, with very taking ways. Veronica plays the elder, the brains of the two, who with one hand keeps Joan's romantic tendencies in check, while with the other she directs the strategy for relieving rich and glibly suckers of a good part of their bankroll.

RIO THEATRE

Leo Gorcey and the Bowery Boys attempt to break up a sports "fix" and are threatened with dire consequences by a powerful syndicate in Monogram's "News Hounds," which is now showing at the Rio Theatre. The latest Bowery Boys comedy has a newspaper background, and the story promises many unusual laugh situations above the roar of the presses.

Lucille Ball Rejects Starring Part In Musical

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lucille Ball turned down an offer to star in a Broadway musical in the fall—and for an interesting reason.

"I left Broadway when I was a show girl," she says, "and I don't want to return in the same type of role. Besides, I don't have a musical comedy voice; one or two songs I can handle, no more. I'd like to return to the stage, but it would have to be a show like 'Dream Girl' or 'Born Yesterday'."

Betty Hutton was visiting "The Heiress" set before leaving for her appearance at London's Palladium. She spied Sir Ralph Richardson and ran up to him and asked: "What's a fortnight?" It seems she is to appear for that length of time. (I wouldn't believe this either if I hadn't heard it first-hand.)

Director Jacques Tourneur, now directing the Los Angeles Rams pro football team in "Interference," says the gridders are easier to direct than many actors. His reasoning: "Football players are used to remembering 60 or more intricate plays; it's a cinch for them to remember how to make a few steps and say a line."

Chico Marx enthuses about a "great entertainer" named Red Moore, whom Chico is importing from Australia. He is the first person ever placed under personal contract by Chico, who discovered the singer-actor-comic during a down-under tour.

Peter Lawford may go abroad for the Communist spy yarn, "The Conspirators," announced for Errol Flynn and Deborah Kerr... still smarting from the New York critics' bars at "Homecoming," Director Mervyn LeRoy comments, "I still say a good review can't help a bad picture and a bad review can't hurt a good one." He needn't worry; "Homecoming" is going great guns.

Where To Go Tonight

(As Advertised)

ATLAS — "Scudda-Hoo! Scudda-Hay," starring June Haver and Lon McCallister. CAPITOL—"The 'Sainted' Sisters," starring Barry Fitzgerald.

DOMINION — "Wallflower," Robert Hutton and Joyce Reynolds.

OAK BAY — "A Place of One's Own," starring Margaret Lockwood and James Mason.

ODEON — "River Lady," starring Yvonne de Carlo.

PLAZA — "Holiday Camp," starring Hazel Court and Jack Warner.

RIO — "News Hounds," with Leo Gorcey and the Bowery Boys.

ROYAL—"B.F.'s Daughter," starring Barbara Stanwyck.

YORK—"Notorious," starring Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman.

ODEON THEATRE
"Technicolor has rarely been more effective than in the new frontier melodrama starting today at the Odeon Theatre. This picture, 'River Lady,' presented by Universal-International, is a lustrous and surprising example of color-photo exploration into new realms of beauty and dramatic impact on the screen."

Yvonne DeCarlo, Dan Duryea, Rod Cameron and Helena Carter are co-starring. Lloyd Gough and Florence Bates headline the supporting cast. The story, made to order for the movie color medium, deals with crooks, lumberjacks and glamorous pioneer ladies assembled in the wilderness along the upper Mississippi.

ATLAS THEATRE

After a long, long pause, Twentieth Century-Fox has finally produced another of those wonderfully warm and heart-lifting screen triumphs in the rich tradition of "Home in Indiana" and "My Friend Flicka."

It is "Scudda-Hoo! Scudda-Hay!" which, filmed in glorious color by Technicolor, is currently on view at the Atlas Theatre.

Not that this top studio hasn't been busy turning out just about the screen's finest fare, but "Scudda-Hoo! Scudda-Hay!" has a very special quality and very special appeal that is all its own, and that we've sorely missed. At any rate, it is here now, and well worth waiting for.

YORK THEATRE

Brazil's picturesque city of Rio de Janeiro is the setting for most of the stirring action of "Notorious," RKO Radio's new dramatic thriller co-starring Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman, now showing at the York Theatre. Produced and directed by Alfred Hitchcock, whose name is a trademark for suspenseful films, the offering revolves around the romantic exploits of two American counter-espionage agents in the South American metropolis in their efforts to uncover a nest of plotters for a future war. Claude Rains, Louis Calhern and Mme. Leopoldine Konstantin are featured.

Former Victorian Inspired Film Now Showing Here

A cross-section of the British public who have helped to make former Victoria tourist camp owner, William Butlin, the major British business phenomenon in years, flashed across the screen of the Plaza Theatre, Thursday, when J. Arthur Rank's film "Holiday Camp" opened an engagement.

Accomplishments of Mr. Butlin who started the holiday camp rage in England in 1936, offering a week of organized gaiety and fun, at a cost low enough to make a holiday with trimmings, possible for millions, is the inspiration for the film, a Sydney Fox production.

The arrival and departure of the Huggett family—husband, wife, son, widowed daughter and her little child; their week at camp and that of various characters, all with their own personal problems and reasons for coming to camp, provide the story material.

A light picture with an engaging, around-home humor, particularly from Jack Warner and Kathleen Harrison as the mother and father, "Holiday Camp" will provide entertaining movie material. The young widow finds romance with a sailor on leave. The Huggett's son gets taken in by a couple of card sharks and a murderer is apprehended before the week is out and the holiday over.

Flora Robson is unfortunately wasted in the role of a middle-aged spinster who helps solve the romantic difficulties of a young musician and his girl.

John Stobart, manager of the Plaza Theatre, is holding a "Plaza Camping Contest" in connection with the showing of the film.

Decision Asked On Labor Board Order

VANCOUVER (CP)—A temporary writ of prohibition against the Labor Relations Board was issued in the B.C. Supreme Court Thursday by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson. The writ forbids the board to enforce an order upon the F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd. for reinstatement of seven former employees and payment of back wages.

The order will remain in effect until Tuesday, when the court will consider an application to continue it. It followed the dismissal of seven employees for alleged union activities.

Fly Arms To Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, (Reuter)—A specially chartered Sky-master has arrived in Singapore with £20,000 ($80,000) worth of U.S. small arms for tin miners to protect themselves against the mounting guerrilla warfare in Malaya, it was disclosed Thursday.

Malcolm MacDonald, Commissioner-General for Southeast Asia, told a conference of Chinese leaders here Wednesday night that Britain's new offensive army—special jungle squads—will soon be in the field against the terrorists.

$580 A Ton For Tuna

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP)—Tuna prices appeared stabilized here at $580 a ton.

Earlier prices ranging up to $630 were reported at Washington ports, but buyers here said the lower figure now was general in the northwest. The tuna fleet was out again

Thursday after being forced in by a storm Monday and Tuesday. Receipts Wednesday were fair and packers said indications pointed to a greater total than in 1944, the record year.

Communist Surrenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert G. Thompson, New York state chairman of the Communist Party and one of 42 top Communists indicted by a federal grand jury last week, surrendered Thursday. Nine others of the 12, including the Communist party leader, William Z. Foster, surrendered previously. Two remain at large.

The 12 were indicted on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Brazil Communists Hear Leader's Appeal

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian Communists have been warned not to commit the "error" made by their comrades in Yugoslavia and to stick to the international party line.

This warning comes from Luis Carlos Prestes, Brazilian Communist leader who has been in hiding since last January. Prestes is never seen in public, but continues to direct underground activities.

He calls the Yugoslavian party's break with Moscow "a great mistake and a serious warning" to Brazilian Communists.

Prestes, a slight, dark-eyed man of 50, was the organizer and leader of the largest Communist party in the western hemisphere which claimed 180,000 members before it was outlawed in May, 1947.

He is also an accredited international Communist theorist trained in the Soviet Union. Radio Moscow already has acknowledged his interpretation of Yugoslavia's "mistake."

Prestes said no country can stand alone today, independent from Soviet Russia, without becoming a target for the "sinister intentions" of United States imperialist aggression.

Parksville To Get Waterworks System

PARKSVILLE — Construction of a waterworks system will begin here some time in August following awarding of a $26,202 contract for the work to G. W. Ledingham & Co. Ltd., Vancouver, it was announced Thursday night by H. J. Marks, Cmdr. W. S. E. Morrison and Raymond Young, village commissioners.

Work will involve development of two springs of pure water near the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway station, construction of a settling tank, pump well and storage tank, and the laying of 39,000 feet of steel pipe from two to eight inches in diameter.

Tenders for the Victoria High School Memorial Stadium are called today, it was announced by C. D. Stockkill of Birley, Wade and Stockkill Ltd., Lawrence J. Wallace and Douglas Smith, chairmen of the stadium construction committee, are calling for bids on two units of the structure together, and also on each unit separately.

Logging Operator Killed In Accident

DUNCAN—Struck by a runaway log during logging operations at Mount Sicker, Frank Cruell, 60, Ladysmith, operator of the F. & M. Cruell Logging Co., was instantly killed at 10:45 Thursday.

An inquest has been set for 7:30 Friday night at Duncan. Constable Gilbert Dick of Provincial Police reported that a 60-foot log had been bucked on a steep slope, where Mr. Cruell stood with two loggers. It traveled about 500 yards and suddenly struck a stump or rock which caused it to change direction. The log moved at terrific speed toward the group without warning, according to Constable Dick. The two loggers managed to jump aside but the log struck Mr. Cruell a glancing blow.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. R. M. Dick of Chemainus. Surviving Mr. Cruell are his widow and children at Ladysmith. One of his sons was killed in a logging accident in October, 1946.

NEW 'SCOPE STAMP — The new 3-cent stamp pictured above commemorates the Palomar Mountain Observatory, site of the famous 200-inch telescope. It will go on first day sale at Palomar Mountain, Calif.

Avenue, between Gatacre and Roberts Streets.

The decision was taken following report of Ald. A. T. Verchere, chairman of the public works committee, regarding the hazard of angle parking at this point. He said many plate glass windows were involved and the present street grade offered little curb protection.

New Water Main For Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — Village commissioners announced here that a new water main would be laid on the hill above Lourdes Hospital, since the present two-inch pipe is worn out.

Rather than replace it with more two-inch pipe, commissioners decided to use four-inch all-steel pipe. The pipe will be laid three feet below the surface, and will be installed so that when the new water system is established, that portion of the line will be ready to receive the flow of water from Elk Falls.

30, 1948, John Wiens, aged 52 years, of 811 Tye Street, born in Manitoba, and a resident here for the past five and one-half years. He leaves his wife, Winifred, for 15 years. He leaves his wife, Anna; two daughters, Marie and Eleanor, at home, and one son, Ralph, at home; also brothers and sisters.

Announcement of funeral will be made by McCall Bros., funeral directors.

FUNERAL
CAMPBELL—A large congregation was present at the funeral of Mrs. Catherine Campbell held from Haywards' B.C.
Funeral Chapel Thursday afternoon, July 29, 1948, at 2 p.m. The service was held in the presence of many friends and relatives. A profusion of beautiful flowers sent at the time of their loss of a loving husband and father. They wish to express their gratitude to the Fraternity of Eagles, the
Rev. Mr. Jackson and St. Mary's Church for the kindly thoughtfulness of the services they rendered.

The parents, brothers and sister of the late Edwin H. Wiens, wish to express their heartfelt appreciation and thanks for the many messages of sympathy and for the presence of friends and relatives who were present in their sorrow for the loss of a dear son and brother.

CARD OF THANKS
Mrs. Doris M. Clark (Tillie) and son
Raymond express their grateful thanks and deep appreciation to their many friends for kind messages of sympathy and beautiful flowers sent at the time of their loss of a loving husband and father. They wish to express their gratitude to the Fraternity of Eagles, the
Rev. Mr. Jackson and St. Mary's Church
for the kindly thoughtfulness of the services they rendered.

The parents, brothers and sister of the late Edwin H. Wiens, wish to express their heartfelt appreciation and thanks for the many messages of sympathy and for the presence of friends and relatives who were present in their sorrow for the loss of a dear son and brother.

Catch Battery Failure
Before It Can Happen

Facts to remember: To most motorists battery failure comes suddenly without warning. At night it is dangerous. In daytime traffic it is embarrassing. With factory-trained mechanics and modern precision equipment we are doing top quality work at competitive prices, so drive in for a free estimate of what your car needs and what the charge will be. It's all right. If you get it at Plimley's it's all right.
